Appropriation For Air Base Being Studied

Committee In House Considering Request For Over $4 Million

A Lockbourne Air Force Base spokesman said today that an allocation of $4,202,000 is being considered by the House Appropriations Committee for the base south of Columbus.

The money, according to the spokesman, is part of a routine request by the base, which has been averaging approximately $10 million a year in improvements. He added that local contracts already let out for improvements total more than $1 million, part of which will go for repainting buildings.

Apparently, this latest request has nothing whatsoever to do with the once-considered plan by Air Force officials to make LAFB a site for a guided missile base.

The appropriation being asked for LAFB by the Air Force reportedly would cover such improvements as:

- STRENGTHENING runways; constructing a building to house the primary navigational aid; construction of new bachelor officers quarters; construction of two "open" messes and recreational facilities; construction of a new chapel; and provide easements for "approach zones".
- The LAFB spokesman emphasized that the appropriation is only at the committee level, and must pass both the House and Senate before becoming official.

Grand Jury Indicts Retired Engineer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The grand jury today indicted 65-year-old E. Waldo Stein of Akron for malicious entry into a financial institution with intent to rob. The charge amounts to attempted bank robbery.

In a preliminary hearing in Lakewood Municipal Court, Stein pleaded innocent.

He is accused of entering a Cleveland Trust Co. branch bank while armed with a .38 pistol, and ordering the manager to fill up a paper sack with money.

He retired last May 1 as a member of the engineering staff of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Boy, 2, Drowns In Freak Mishap

STUEBENVILLE (AP)—Two-year-old Louis Steffick Jr. drowned last night in a cistern at his home in nearby Smithfield.

The cistern had been covered with planks weighted down by rocks. Louis apparently had picked up a rock, dropped it and then was knocked into the cistern by a bouncing plank. His head was gashed.

Foster Mother Of 38 Slated For High New Jersey Honors

EAST BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—"It all started after our only daughter got married," says Mrs. William Yates, mother of 38 foster daughters, who will be honored today as New Jersey's Foster Mother of the Year.

Gov. Robert B. Mayner will present Mr. and Mrs. Yates, of Old Bridge, a silver tray donated by the State Board of Child Welfare.

The silver-haired woman said when her daughter, now Mrs. Albert Latschar, got married some 25 years ago, she told her husband she would be lonely.

"Since then," she said, "we've had foster children at home, sometimes as many as six or seven girls."

Yates said sometimes he would take his grandson and one of his adopted daughters and go to a swimming pool.

Some Farmers Needing Rain, Sunshine Badly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers faced the possibility of reduced crops this year unless they get more rain and it warms up.

In its monthly crop report yesterday, the Agriculture Department said prospects on June 1 were the lowest since 1945. Production that year was about 12 percent below last year's near record volume.

A combination of drought conditions in many areas and unusually cool growing weather contributed to the adverse outlook.

Any sizable reduction in production, especially of corn and other feed grains, tobacco and rice, would help relieve present surplus problems. Prices could be expected to increase.

The department emphasized, however, that it is too early to forecast the possible size of crops, explaining that favorable changes in the weather would improve the picture.

The 1956 wheat crop is estimated at 20 percent below the 10-year average.

The report said needed rains in May brightened the future somewhat for large acreages of corn, cotton, soybeans, sorghums and other crops just getting a start.

However, many sections still had insufficient rain and badly needed more soil moisture.

Truce Inspection Teams Pulling Out

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Pyongyang radio today announced the withdrawal of the four-power armistice inspection teams from North Korea.

An American source here said members of the truce team arrived this morning in Panmunjom, in the neutral zone.

The Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission ordered the withdrawal after the U. N. Command told the truce teams to get out of South Korea. The U. N. allies charged the Communist Czech and Polish truce inspectors were conspiring with the North Koreans in an effort to hide an arms buildup in violation of the truce.

Truman To Address Dem Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Truman will address the Democratic National Convention after the party's presidential nominee has been chosen.

Paul Butler, the Democratic National Chairman, announced that today and said that a place on the program was in accordance with Truman's wishes.

Butler said Truman didn't say why he wanted to take the platform after the nomination had been made. But Truman has said he is a neutral so far as a preference among the contenders for the nomination are concerned.

Argentina Revolt Leader Is Captured

Pro-Peron General Held; Firing Squad Hinted As Penalty

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Gen. Juan Jose Valle, sought as a top leader of last weekend's brief but bloody revolt, was reported captured early today.

The newspaper Clarin said it had received information that Valle was taken prisoner and "placed at the disposition of the Army Ministry." Clarin said it did not know whether he had been court-martialed.

Valle and Gen. Raul Tanco, both military bigwigs in the regime of deposed President Juan Peron, were named by the government as the key military leaders in the abortive rebellion. Tanco apparently was still at large.

It was considered likely Valle would face a firing squad, since a high government spokesman said earlier a presidential order committing 11 death sentences set no precedent for other persons arrested and especially did not extend to Valle and Tanco.

THE SOURCE said the clemency action by Provisional President Pedro Aramburu affected four men in Santa Rosa, the capital of La Pampa province, four non-commissioned officers at Buenos Aires' Campo de Mayo and three men at La Plata. The order came after firing squads had executed 38 military men and civilians as participants in the revolt.

The source said the 11 probably will get life imprisonment. Military courts meeting in secret sessions now are deliberating the fate of more than 300 persons arrested after the uprising was put down Sunday. Possibly 100 or more persons died in the brief fighting.

Both Valle and Tanco were retired from the army after Peron was overthrown. The government said Valle would have taken over as president if the revolt had succeeded, and it was believed Tanco was to be vice president.

Aramburu said the main body of the rebels was formed of diehard supporters of Peron. But he said the "head operated with the style of action used by the Communists."

"This movement has ramifications," Aramburu asserted. "By suppressing it we are defending not only Argentine liberty and democracy, but also that of all the American continent."

Rudolph Reid, organizer of a Miami youth council in the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, was arrested last night and charged with tending to create a breach of the peace. He was released on bond.

Buses in Miami operate on a segregated basis as do others throughout Florida. The city's ordinances governing segregation are patterned after state laws and signs in buses specify that white persons seat "from the front and Negroes from the rear."

Neal Adams of the NAACP said that the bus company "will be sued" and that "it could mean a bus boycott."

Such boycotts previously have been put into effect at Montgomery, Ala., and Tallahassee.

The bus company provides "a service to the public and has no ax to grind," said Octavio Cuevas, executive vice president of the privately owned firm.

"We have told all our employees that they are to obey all the laws of the state and the city," he said, and added:

"They can't sue a citizen or a company for obeying the laws. If the laws are changed, we will obey the new laws."

2 Buses Collide

CLEVELAND (AP)—A bus driver and five passengers were injured today when two city buses collided on the East Side.

British Hand Death Sentence To Cypriots, Deport Cleric

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A 23-year-old Cypriot was sentenced to hang today for shooting at two British airmen.

The defendant, Stelios Mavrommatis, pleaded innocent and presumably will appeal the sentence.

British authorities last May 10 hanged two pro-Greek Cypriots for political shootings in the struggle to end British rule of Cyprus and unite the Mediterranean island with Greece. The pro-Greek Cypriot underground claimed the following day that it had hanged two British soldiers in reprisal for the executions.

Mavrommatis formerly was employed by the Royal Air Force as a clerk. Lawrence Leith and Norman Kitchen, both RAF members, testified at his trial that he was one of three persons who fired at them as they rode bicycles in Nicosia March 15.

They said the shots missed, they fired back, chased the three men and caught Mavrommatis. Mavrommatis' attorneys argued that he met the other two men accidentally and that the shooting was a surprise to him.

British security forces meanwhile pushed a drive in northwest Cyprus to capture leaders of Eoka, the pro-Greek underground organization.

In London, the British government disclosed it has deported a high official of the Greek Orthodox Church in Britain, Archimandrite Kallinikos Macheriotis.

A Home Office spokesman said the clergyman, a Greek national, was placed on a plane for Athens last night.

The deportation was ordered by Home Secretary G. W. Lloyd George "in the public interest," the spokesman said. He declined to elaborate.

Macheriotis carried out his duties at the Greek Orthodox Church in London yesterday.

Macheriotis was born in Cyprus, lived for a time in Greece and came to Britain about three years ago. His office of archimandrite is approximately equivalent to that of a provost in Western churches.

The Greek Embassy here said it knew of the deportation of Macheriotis, but a spokesman could offer no explanation.

New Dry-Storage Eye Bank Gives Sight To 10 Persons

CHICAGO (AP)—A new kind of dry-storage eye bank is giving sight to 10 once-blinded humans.

They are seeing the world again through borrowed corneas or "windows" of the human eye. But these corneas were first dehydrated and then stored very simply for weeks or months.

Present eye banks can keep corneas in good shape under refrigeration for only a few days before they deteriorate. Blind patients sometimes spend expensive hospital stays until corneas, donated from dead persons, can reach them to try to restore sight.

Untold thousands of persons in this country and over the world are blind simply because their own corneas in the front of the eye have been clouded, scarred or damaged by disease or accident.

Other thousands appear willing to donate their own eyes after death to help these blind.

THE NEW METHOD takes the water out of the cornea tissue, permitting storage in a test-tube, under vacuum, for months. Corneas presumably could be shipped anywhere needed.

The new technique, still in research stage, was described to the American Medical Assn. by Dr. John H. King Jr., associate professor of ophthalmology at Georgetown University Medical Center, Washington, D. C.

The dehydration method, without freezing, was developed in research at the Army Ocular Research Unit at Walter Reed Hospital, of which Dr. King was a member. He is a retired Army Medical Corps colonel.

Freeze-drying can preserve corneas for up to nine months. But they must be kept cold, and specially packaged for movement.

Simple drying offers great advantages. The watery fluid in the corneas is driven out or replaced by glycerine. Just before use, the cornea is soaked in a special salt solution, with normal watery fluids replacing the glycerine.

Ten persons have been given the dried-eye windows during the last three years, said Dr. King, who performed many of the transplants. All the windows are still clear. Some had been preserved for nine months.

Indiana Bandit Grabs $65,000

SOUTHPORT, Ind. (AP)—A gunman masked with a stocking kidnapped a bank president and his wife from their home early today, held them in the Southport State Bank almost six hours, and escaped with about $65,000 after the vault time lock was released.

Six women employees reported for work while the robber was holding Mr. and Mrs. John A. Whalen and they were lined up together along one side of the bank by the gunman.

The robber escaped in Whalen's 1956 black Oldsmobile.

The process was reported by A. M. Henderson and S. L. May of the Bureau of Mines laboratory at Albany, Ore. They presented it to a meeting of the American Society of Chemical Engineers, held in connection with the annual convention of the Pacific Division of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

'Great Injury' Claimed Ahead If Slash Is OKd

$3.8 Billion Fund Approved By House Said Far Too Little

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration civilian and military leaders urged Senate Republican and Democratic leaders today to restore at least $600 million of the $1.1 billion slashed from the foreign aid bill by the House.

The Senate leaders said after a White House conference that Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told them "great injury" would be done if $600 million was not added to the $3.8 billion authorization measure passed by the House yesterday.

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant, for the full $4.9 billion he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

In Walter Reed Army Hospital, where Eisenhower is recovering from abdominal surgery, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not send a written message to the conference.

HAGERTY SAID Adams told the group of Eisenhower's "deep interest" in the foreign aid bill and that "the President feels that the support of NATO has been really undercut" by the fund-slashing in the House.

Republican Senate leaders reportedly have told Eisenhower's aides to pare administration foreign aid below $4.3 billion.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3.8 billion (Continued on Page Two)

Robeson Facing Rap For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities today voted to cite Paul Robeson for contempt.

The vote came after a furious shouting session between the left wing Negro singer and Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) and other members of the committee. The recommendation goes to Congress which has the power to vote the actual citation.

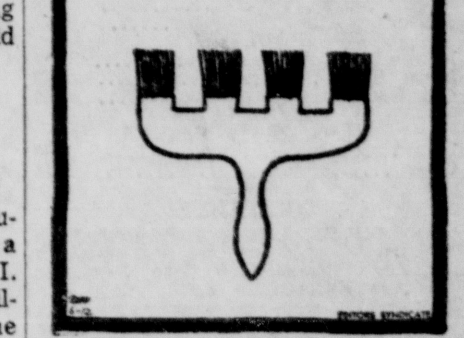

The committee called Robeson in an inquiry, begun last month, into possible use of American passports by Communists.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"BRUSH FOR PAINTING ZEBRAS"

If you're a dyed-in-the-wool Dacron Droodler you probably won't be satisfied with the title of this Droodle and will want to make up a couple of spares in case of emergency. For instance, it might also be called "A SHAVING BRUSH FOR A BARBERSHOP QUARTET" or even "A BROOM FOR SWEEPING BOWLING ALLEYS." Of course these titles are pretty logical and if you're the Non-Objective or Picasso-type Droodler you will want to call it something more neurotic, like perhaps "A COMBINATION DUST MOP AND CANDELABRA" or "A WHISK BROOM WITH A SPLIT PERSONALITY." Or even "A WHATCHA WITH SPARE MACALLITS" or maybe "A BRUSH FOR PAINTING ZEBRAS" (That last one sounds familiar, I must've heard it some place before).

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two-year-old Robert Smith, burned over 65 percent of his body yesterday after accidentally setting fire to his parents' East Side apartment, died today in St. Luke's Hospital.

Police said Robert started the fire in a bedroom while he was playing with matches.

foreign assistance authorization bill passed 273-122 by the House yesterday.

One Republican, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower's assistants were told they would be lucky if the Senate added half a billion to the House figure.

The President's aides were told firmly, this conference said, that they must justify fully and in detail any proposed increases over the House ceiling.

Even then, the consensus of the GOP leaders was that it would be difficult to obtain any boosts.

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, has said that if the $1 billion cut in military aid funds is allowed to stand, it would "seriously impair programs essential to the defense of the U. S."

Leading Democrats made it clear there will be a move to slash the House amount further in the Senate.

Sen. Long (D-La.), who has sponsored fund-cutting amendments in the past, said he was happy about the House slash and hopes the Senate will make further reductions.

Long is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which will begin voting tomorrow on items in the authorization bill.

Ike Signs 3 Official Papers

Staff Parley Held in Hospital Room

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed three documents and his press secretary said the chief executive is "feeling fine" on this fourth day after his intestinal operation.

This was the first time Eisenhower had signed an official paper since the emergency surgery Saturday.

The President affixed his signature while sitting up in a chair and holding the papers on his knee.

Eisenhower held what amounted to a regular staff meeting. It lasted about 15 minutes. Besides his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, he conferred with Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Pearson, his liaison man with Congress, and White House Staff Secretary Andrew J. Good-paster.

The papers Eisenhower signed:

1. An emergency allocation of $50,000 for federal aid to flooded areas in Colorado.
2. AN ORDER approving a new design of the U. S. Army flag.
3. The international wheat agreement for 1956. This becomes effective unless the Senate disapproves it within 30 days.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty described the documents signed today as routine, about the same number as the President might normally sign in a morning at the White House.

Hagerty's noon-day report followed a morning statement from the President's doctors that he passed his most comfortable night since the operation, his spirits are high and his morale good.

Tractor Without Rider Reveals Death Of C. C. Wolf, Hay Dealer

The sight of an unmanned tractor pulling a mower through a field of hay late yesterday led to the discovery of the death of Chester C. Wolf, widely known Circleville hay dealer.

Wolf, 71, had been operating the tractor on the Bruce Stevenson farm in Jackson Township when he apparently was stricken with a heart attack and toppled to the ground. Joe Good, working on nearby property, noticed the tractor running aimlessly and found the hay dealer's body.

Good notified Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff, who in turn called for Pickaway County Coroner Ray Carroll. Time of death was estimated at 6 p. m. Mr. Wolf resided at 453 N. Court St. and had his business office on W. Mount St.

Sheriff Radcliff said the riderless tractor, moving in circles around the field, at one time nearly ran over Mr. Wolf's body.

State Board Sets Standard For Schools

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio board of education today approved a special committee report setting standards for determining permanent high school centers.

The report was designed to establish a guide for the construction of new high schools and for the merger of smaller schools.

The report specifies that a school district not operating or constructing a high school in 1954-55 should not be permitted to establish a high school unless (1) the high school will enroll at least 240 pupils and has a valuation in the district in excess of five million dollars, or (2) factors of distances for transportation are such that the board certifies that the operation of a smaller high school is justifiable.

A second phase of the report urged smaller districts operating high schools with enrollments of less than 180 pupils to combine with one or more other districts.

Three points were listed in granting exceptions to the minimum enrollment specified.

1. Whether there is another high school within 15 miles.

2. Whether road conditions are such as to permit economical transportation.

3. Whether the pupils would be required to ride school buses for longer than one hour each way.

A hospital spokesman said Eliot was suffering from a "cardiac condition which has not proved too serious." He said the 67-year-old writer "won't have to stay here too long—just a few days rest is all he needs now."

Let's All Go Shopping!

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
Home Demonstration Agent
Farm Extension Service

June is the month of greatest milk production and since 1938 has been designated as Dairy Month.

For the sake of good all-around nutrition, we should each day honor milk and its many wholesome products.

Since this is the first of the warm months when cold foods are popular, let's all go shopping for frozen milk desserts and or the materials to make them.

The frozen milk desserts — ice cream, frozen custard, "soft-serv" and sherbets — are available in either handy-sized cartons or in bulk. They come in more than 150 different flavors, which make them ideal for spur-of-the-moment entertaining.

THERE IS a frozen dessert to suit the tastes of every member of the family. They can definitely be "personalized" by the unlimited possibilities for home-made toppings. They can be served with sauces, fruit, on pie or cake, with cookies, cupcakes, or just plain, if that is the preference.

There is always that special edible "garnish" which draws special attention.

The standards for milk desserts are under the supervision of the Food and Dairies Division of the Ohio Department of Agriculture. Foodshoppers will find four classifications of milk desserts in Ohio:

(1) Ice cream must contain at least 10 percent milk fat, 18 percent milk solids and not more than one-half of one percent stabilizer.

(2) Frozen custard must include 1 1/4 percent egg solids, in addition to the requirements for ice cream to be labeled frozen custard.

(3) "Soft-serv" dessert has at least 6 percent milk fat and complies with the other requirements for ice cream. It is most often found at attractive roadside stands and sold under a trade name.

(4) Sherbets will have less milk solids than ice cream and include fruit juices. Generally, sherbets are rather grainy in comparison to the other frozen desserts and have stronger flavors.

PRE-PACKAGED and bulk milk desserts are generally made from the same basic mix and have a comparable percentage of "over-run". The pre-packaged desserts are often less in price per unit than the equivalent in bulk. Technology and mass production make packaging costs lower at the manufacturing plant than at the retail counter.

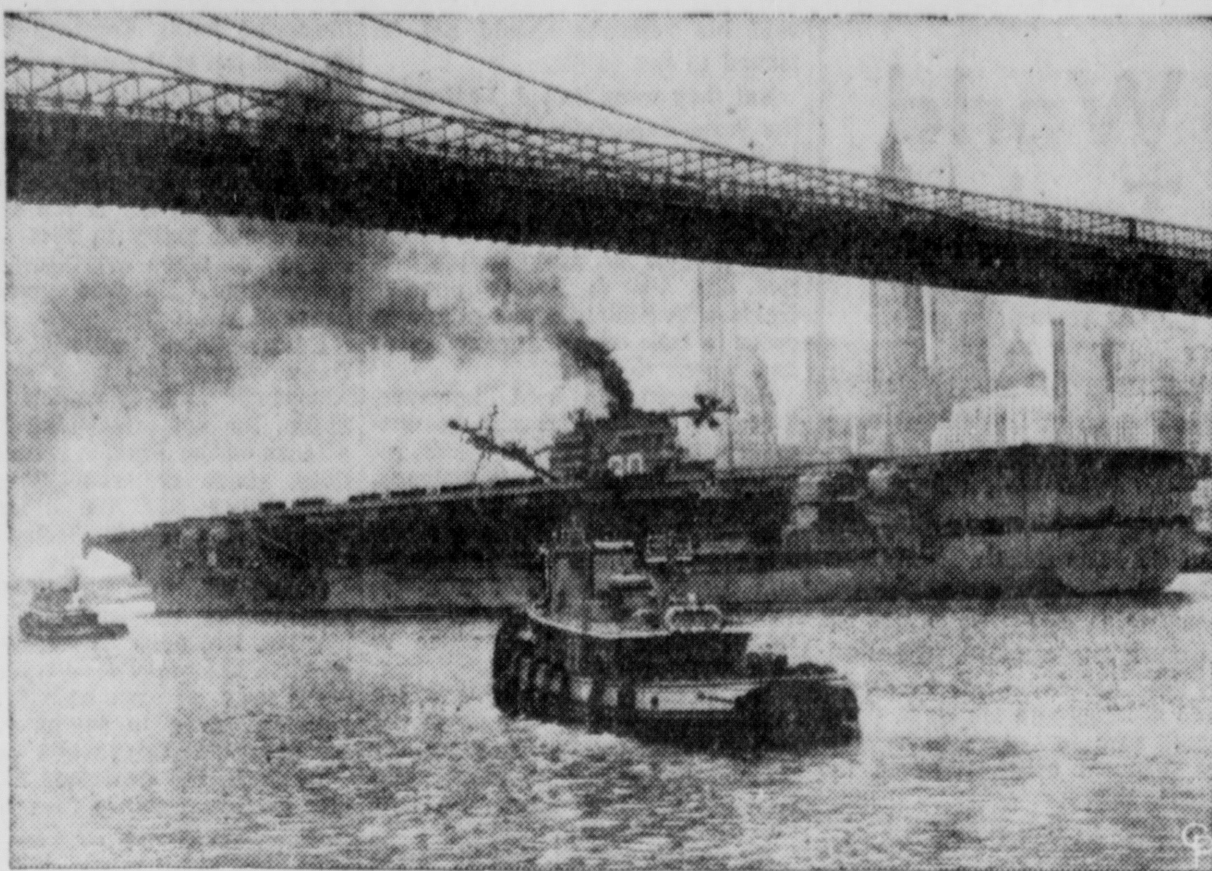

The weight of package desserts may be an indication of the amount of "over-run", or air which has been stirred into the basic mix. The minimum weight of a gallon of ice cream is four pounds and four ounces. One can plan on six servings per quart, or 24 to 26 servings per gallon.

Frozen milk desserts are good sources of vitamin A, riboflavin, calcium and phosphorus. They are relatively low in calories, less than 200 in the average-sized serving.

"The proof of the dessert is in the eating" and foodshoppers' best guide to purchasing frozen milk desserts is to buy and compare and thus develop a pattern of preference.

The ice cream consumption in the United States has more than doubled in two decades, rising to about 15 quarts per year for every man, woman and child. Last year, in its first year of operation, the special school milk program achieved an increase in consumption of 451 million half pints of milk in participating schools.

Schools will be out of the milk

promotion business for a most three months. So let's all help maintain and promote the easiest and most economical way to get the daily requirement of calcium. Let's both eat and drink milk—one of the most nearly complete foods. It can well be the principle food in any diet.

SOMETHING NEW is not unusual. But did you know that a new type mix has just been introduced by one of the major foods' corporations? It is a milk shake mix which comes in three flavors chocolate, strawberry and vanilla. Added to whole fresh milk or reconstituted dry milk and sugar, one package makes two large glasses of milk shake.

The process takes just a few minutes. This product is now available in most food stores.

HERE'S HOW . . .

... MAKE A SEESAW

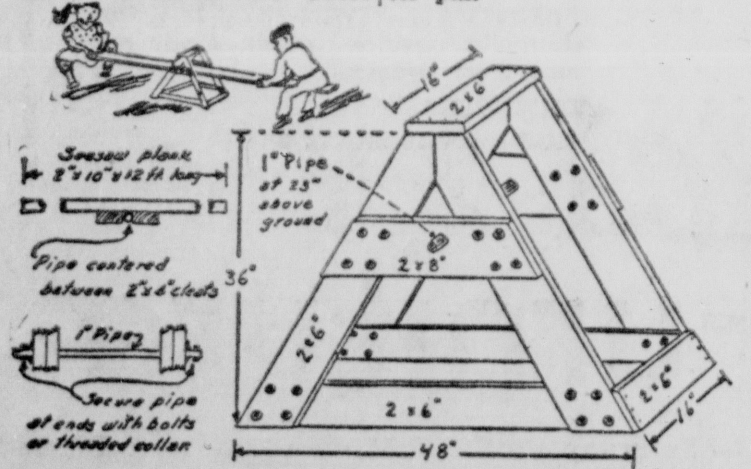

A safe, sturdy, portable seesaw is easily made, using 2-inch lumber.

First make two A-frames as shown in the drawing. To avoid angle measurements, a frame pattern may be drawn, full-scale on large paper or on a basement floor. Then the angles are marked off on the lumber.

The frames are joined with 8 pieces of 2 by 6: a cap and two lower connections. These may be nailed with 40-penny nails. All other fastenings are 4-inch carriage bolts, with the smooth heads of the bolts on the inside of the structure.

A 1-inch pipe, 23 inches from the ground level will support the seesaw plank. If threaded at both ends, the pipe may be capped with a flange or collar to prevent slipping. If it is not threaded, holes may be bored for a bolt, used as a cotter pin.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer James Shea. His offices are in the basement of the courthouse at Circleville.)

Q—Last week in your column, you gave the amount of subsistence allowance for a veteran for full-time schooling under the Korean GI Bill. What is the subsistence for a veteran attending school only half-time?

A—Subsistence for a veteran enrolled in a half-time course is $50 a month if he has no dependents, $60 if he has one dependent and $80 if he has more than one dependent.

Q—I am receiving 100 percent service-connected compensation. What is the amount of income that I can earn before it will affect this compensation?

A—There is no income limitation with regards to a service-connected compensation. No matter how much you earn, your compensation will not be reduced unless your disability is improved. However, for a total non-service-connected pension there is an income limitation.

Q—I noticed in last week's column, that there is a possibility of a Korean state bonus. What are the eligibility requirements for this bonus, and what is the amount of the bonus?

A—Any person who was on active duty in the armed forces of the United States at any time between June 25, 1950 and July 19, 1953 (both dates inclusive), and who at the time of commencing such service was and had been a resident of the state of Ohio for at least one year immediately preceding the start of such service, shall be eligible for the bonus. He must either have been honorably discharged, or still in the service.

The bonus will amount to $10 per month for each month in active domestic service, and $15 for each month of active foreign service within said period of time. The maximum amount of the bonus shall be $400. The bonus for a fraction of a month shall be paid at the rate of 1-30 of the above mentioned figures per day.

Q—I have been carrying my converted National Service Life Insurance now for 10 years. How much can I borrow on it?

A—It is impossible to give a definite answer to this question without knowing the type of insurance you are carrying and your age when you converted. You can, however, borrow up to 96 percent of the reserve on your insurance.

Q—Can I get institutional on-the-farm training under the Korean GI Bill?

A—You can if you have control of the farm, and if you don't mind traveling about 60 miles to school a couple times each week. There are no schools in Pickaway County. The nearest one, I believe, is in Athens County.

Will Your Children Find Jobs When They Finish School?

This month, 182,836 boys and girls will be graduated from high schools in the six states served by the N&W. Some will continue their education, but 129,400 will look for jobs.* Meanwhile, thousands of college graduates also will begin looking for employment.

Thanks substantially to industrial growth in these states, most of these young people will find jobs. They'll start at the bottom of the ladder, but at least there'll be a ladder for them, and they'll be on the way.

Since January, 1950 — along the N&W alone — there have been 850 new industries and additions to established ones, creating 42,352 jobs just within these industries. That's not all. Based on survey figures of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, these 42,352 new workers created 31,341 jobs in other types of business.**

With our big population increase, job increases are vital. It's reassuring to know that job opportunity keeps pace with job demand in this great and growing area.

The Norfolk and Western takes pride in being a member of the industrial development team in this Land of Plenty — by providing the dependable rail service industry must have . . . by consistently advertising to business executives the outstanding industrial advantages of this area . . . and by providing industry the unlimited service of its experienced plant location specialists.

So long as industrial growth can be maintained, your children will find jobs when they finish school. Maintaining that growth is a job to which the N&W pledges a continuing, all-out effort.

*Based on estimates by education officials in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and Kentucky.

**This survey showed that in the average community, 100 new industrial workers result in an additional 74 workers in other businesses in the community.

Even Truck Sales Showing Some Softness

Profitable Sideline Of Auto Industry Has Troubles Too

By SAM DAWSON

DETROIT (AP)—Two toned cars may be the glamor girls of the automobile industry but this year it's the broad beamed trucks that have been bringing home the sales and profits.

But of late even the trucks, like so many other things in the economy, have begun to show a split personality.

Light weight truck sales have turned soft, industry spokesmen say. They report a drop in purchasing by farmers, one of their big customers. Makers hope for a sales pickup in the fall.

Heavy duty trucks, on the other hand, are still barreling right down the highway. And the new multi-billion dollar highway system now in the works doesn't cloud their forward vision in the least. Backlogs of orders are high.

They cite: The many new plants being built on the outskirts of cities or along the thoroughfares; the plants being dispersed into semi-rural or previously non-industrial areas from the cities, meaning a rash of shopping centers and branch stores to be served; and changes in a number of state laws to permit bigger truck and trailer units to pound the highways.

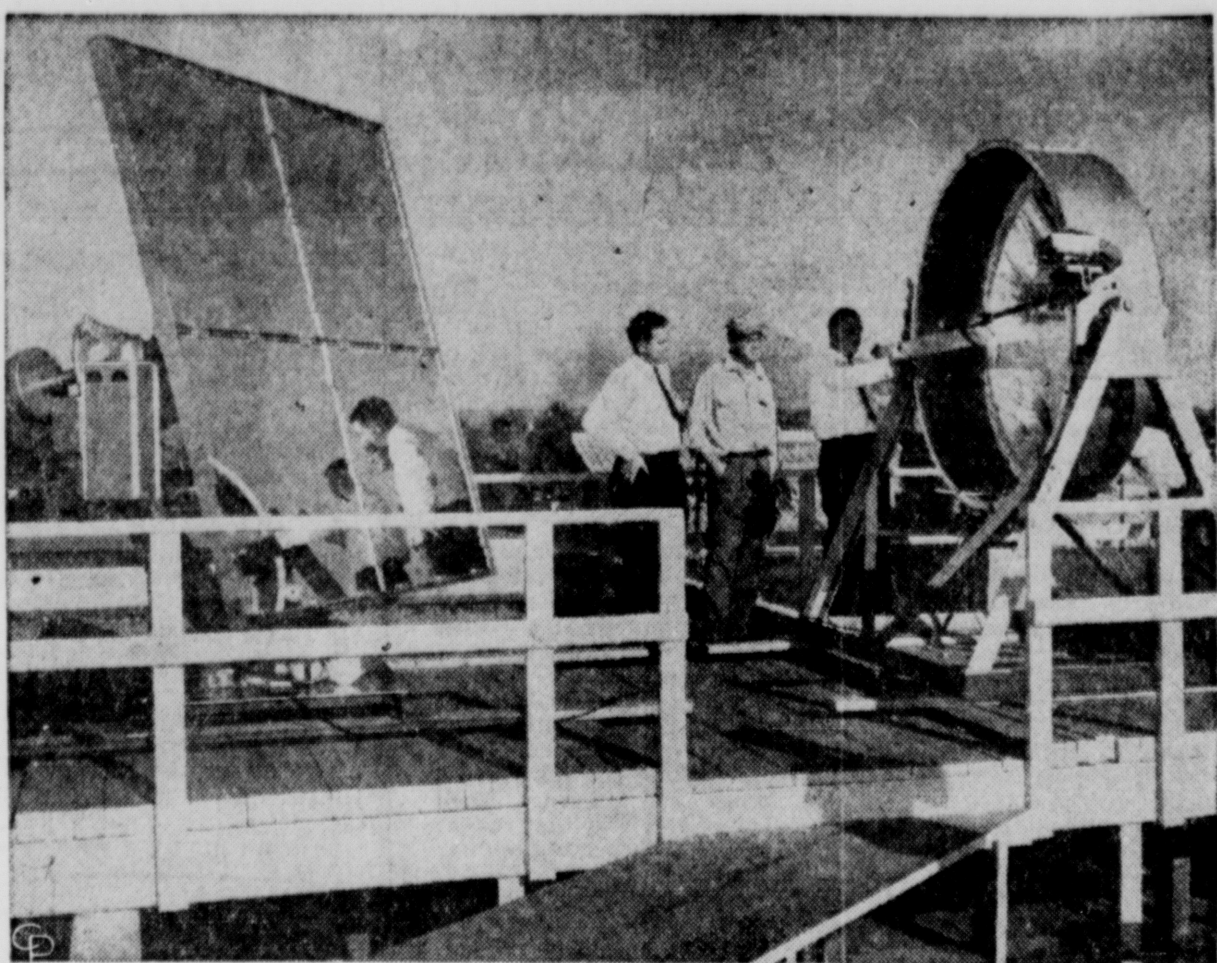

Heavy duty truck builders point out that for some time their gains have outpaced the truck market as a whole.

The slippage in light truck sales and production is much less than in that of pleasure cars. Latest Ford figures show output of trucks off 18 per cent from a year ago while Ford passenger cars dropped 24 per cent.

General Motors, although noting a recent softening in demand for light trucks, still figures industry sale of all trucks this year at 950,000. Chrysler reports its truck sales a pleasanter part of its picture but wishes they were better.

Still happier figures and forecasts come from the independents. White Motor, a heavy truck builder, report sales rose 36 per cent in the first three months of the year and profits rose 41 per cent.

John L. McCaffrey, chairman of International Harvester, says in Chicago, "Our backlog of motor truck orders shows no signs of

Board Studies Selection Of School Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education is moving cautiously in making its first selection of a state superintendent of public instruction.

That was indicated by Board President Robert A. Manchester of Canfield after Monday night's meeting of the board here. Said Manchester: "We are proceeding cautiously. It is a serious thing, and we will have to live with the decision a long time."

The board meets again today, but Manchester said he believes the matter of appointing a new superintendent will be postponed.

The board, authorized up by a constitutional amendment last fall, continued the present superintendent, R. M. Eyman in office pending decision on a permanent appointment. Eyman also is one of six men being considered for the permanent appointment.

At Monday night's session the board adopted a resolution sponsored by Loren E. Souers Jr., of Canton, calling upon the Ohio attorney general to rule how the board may determine if local school boards are complying with state school laws.

Souers said the board was informed at its last meeting of one instance of padded school attendance rolls.

The board ordered further study of an organizational plan for the State Department of Education which would include a deputy superintendent, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and an assistant superintendent of administration and finance.

Bank Chief, Wife Drive Off Bandit

STOCKBRIDGE, Ga. (AP)—A wide search was in progress today for a bandit who tried to rob the Citizens Bank of Stockbridge Monday and was driven off by the blazing pistols of the bank president and his wife.

The robber apparently was wounded before he escaped in a car from this town about 25 miles southeast of Atlanta.

Mrs. Charles T. Loder, 45-year-old cashier and wife of the bank president, said the man looked very much like the gunman who robbed the bank of $4,500 May 4, 1955, and never was captured.

"I shot four times," she said. Loder, 46, said he fired at the man five times.

The average man weighing 150 pounds can exert one-eighth horsepower.

Ohio Votes 12-10 For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio representatives Monday voted 12-10 in favor of the $3,800,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill which the House passed and sent to the Senate, 273 to 122.

Representatives voting for the bill were Democrats Ashley, Feighan, Hays, Kirwan and Vanik; Republicans Ayres, Frances Bolton, Oliver Bolton, Jenkins, Minshall, Schenck and Vorys.

Against the bill were Democrat Polk and Republicans Baumhart, Betts, Bow, Clevenger, Henderson, Hess, McCulloch, McGregor and Scherer.

Rep. Brown, Republican, was announced as paired against the bill.

Ohio's Wheat May Average 25½ Bushels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has predicted that Ohio wheat growers will average 25½ bushels to the acre of this year's crop.

The federal experts put the Buckeye State's total 1956 production at 37,918,000 bushels. The forecast came as the department said the over-all national production would be 922,672,000 bushels.

This is the first estimate for the full crop and compares with 938,159,000 produced last year and 1,146,547,000 for the 10-year (1945-54) average.

The winter wheat crop was forecast at 670,375,000 bushels compared with 681,432,000 indicated a month ago. Production last year was 705,372,000 bushels and the 10-year average 872,635,000.

The forecast for the spring wheat crop—the first of the season—was 252,297,000 bushels compared with 232,787,000 produced last year and 273,912,000 for the 10-year average.

The wheat crop, like those of the previous two years, is being grown under rigid government marketing quotas designed to produce not more than about 900 million bushels. Reserve and surplus stocks equivalent to an average size crop have been accumulated under price support programs.

Tibet's New Year festival falls usually in February or March.

Detroit, 71, Said Counterfeiter

DETROIT (AP)—Social Security and old age assistance payments were not enough to furnish 71-year-old Paul Eifert with what he considered a fair standard of living, so he began turning out homemade $10 bills.

He was sentenced Monday to three years in prison for possessing counterfeit money.

Eifert's 82-year-old partner Paul Carro was put on probation for one year. He was arrested May 8 and accused of passing a bogus $10 bill at Ft. Miami race track in Toledo, Ohio.

The two men pleaded guilty.

This '56 Buick is packed with new features—and priced close to the smaller cars!

WANT SOME QUICK FACTS on the big news in automobiles today—news that can guide you to a smart move and a real smart buy?

Then listen—it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments—in styling—in power—in performance—in ride and handling—that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick SPECIAL—like the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars—but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whale of a lot more new car for the money.

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflo gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car—catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile your money can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

IMPORTANT FIND

WHAT IS BELIEVED to be the only portrait of Tecumseh, famous Shawnee Indian chief, in existence has been discovered by George I. Quimby, curator of North American archaeology and ethnology at the Natural History Museum in Chicago. The oil painting, that of an Indian in white man's garb, has been stored at the museum since 1894, when it—with 34 others—was purchased from a grandniece of Gen. William Clark of the famed Lewis and Clark expedition. The paintings were formerly owned by Clark.

Miss Emily O'Fallon of St. Louis, the grandniece, wrote that a portrait of Tecumseh was included in the collection, but apparently no effort to identify it had previously been made. Of the 35 paintings, 33 were by the famous painter of Indians and Indian scenes, George Catlin, and another was by Chester Harding, another famous painter of Indians. Both arrived in the Midwest after Tecumseh's death. The other painting, believed to be of Tecumseh, was unsigned.

Tecumseh led 2,000 warriors of allied tribes against the United States in the War of 1812, when he was commissioned a brigadier general in the British army. Tecumseh was killed in the battle of the Thames on October 5, 1813, when he opposed forces led by William Henry Harrison, who later became President.

The only pictorial depiction of the Indian previously known to be in existence was based on a pencil sketch made about 1803 by Pierre Le Dru, a French trader at Vincennes, Ind. In more recent publication this usually appeared with the subject bedecked in a British brigadier's uniform.

RED 'RELAXATION' A SHAM

IN THE SOVIET satellites' rush to dump their "Stanlinist" leaders, Eastern Germany has been, as the experts say, 'conspicuously absent.'

The same leaders associated with the brutal terrorism of the late dictator, including communist party boss Walter Ulbricht, are in control. Elsewhere, as the current "relaxation" of repressions took place, such persons were ousted.

This illustrates a point made recently by Dr. Josef Korbel, head of the Foreign Relations Institute at Denver University and a former Czechoslovak diplomat. He said he didn't believe that Russia would ever permit her puppet regimes to gain any real freedom from Moscow ties.

He further said that the June uprising of three years ago, in which many East Germans lost their lives in trying to oust the Russians, had showed other satellite peoples how foolhardy it would be to try to rebel. The Russians were able to crush the revolt in three days.

Memory of the June affair obviously still is too clear and too frightening to the communist bosses to allow them to make any concessions.

The bosses in the Kremlin cannot afford to lose their satellites. And any "relaxation" they permit is designed to complement homefront efforts, not to permit true freedom. The whole affair is a sham.

These Days

Messrs. Eli Ginzberg, Edward A. Fitzpatrick, Howard A. Meyerhoff and Eugene M. Kulischer, professors and specialists in various fields, have joined together to study the human resources of this country with the object of relating it to the national security.

Their monograph on the subject is as interesting as it is important, but what fascinated me is that right at the start they more or less debunk the excitement over shortages by making this very simple and correct statement of fact:

"... There is a shortage of good baseball players, of top-flight business executives; beautiful women are in short supply; competent philosophers are likewise scarce. How could it be otherwise, then, than that there would be a shortage of good scientists and engineers?..."

That is just the point. Really competent, skilled, imaginative, thinking persons are rare no matter what the field of activity or interest. In the United States, even 30 years ago, a B. A. or a B. S. degree meant something that gained a person respect and opportunity. Today, these baccalaureate degrees are a dime a dozen, like high school diplomas.

To move out of the proletariat into the learned professions, one needs a Ph.D. which does not really mean that the person knows more or has a better mind; it only means that he has narrowed his field of learning to a minute specialty and that in that narrow area he has gained an intense proficiency.

It hardly seems worth while to do all that work and to delay marriage and having a family for a job that brings between $7,500 and $10,000 a year. Also the young man knows, if he is at all intelligent, that while he may understand the habits of a seaweed, he understands little else and therefore he starts life discontented and frustrated.

Many educators are deeply concerned about the narrowness of specialization and the little time left the student for an education and they confer about it and have some committees making special studies. But the difficulty is that the boy who majors in engineering or science is stuck with so heavy a load if he is ever to get into a top-notch graduate school that he has no time for an equal concentration on learning which is now categorized as the humanities.

Possibly the only solution is a three-semester year which would reduce the Summer vacation.

Those who make a great to-do about the shortage of engineers point to the enormous number of engineers and scientists that Soviet Russia turns out. In this connection, the learned doctors whom I quote above, said:

"... Considering what we do not know about our own scientific and engineering manpower resources, comparative analyses of the United States and the Soviet Union would seem to rest on shaky grounds. To advise caution about such comparisons does not commit one to lack of concern about the magnitude and quality of the effort the Soviet Union is making to strengthen its scientific manpower resources..."

It needs to be remembered that mass education in Soviet Russia only started after the 1917 Revolution and that advantages which in this country go to other kinds of persons, go to scientists and engineers in Russia. National security neither for Soviet Russia nor for the United States can rest entirely upon engineers and scientists unless these are more than mechanics. They have to be thinkers—im-

SYNOPSIS
Priscilla Paige's humdrum life as an office worker in New York suddenly becomes exciting when she is notified of an unexpected bequest from a great-uncle. As a result, her writer-friend Rita is driving with her to Apalachicola, Florida, where Priscilla will claim a 100-year-old estate and $5,000 in securities.

CHAPTER 3
"IT'S SUCH a strange-looking country, so wild and desolate," Priscilla said, her eyes sweeping the wide expanse of water on one side with the intervening strip of marshland and sea grass, then turning to the other side of the highway, a jungle of palmettos, palms and mangroves. Rita was driving and Priscilla was taking notes. Rita might want them, she said, for a book sometime.

They were on the long, lonely stretch of road between Port St. Joe and Apalachicola. There were miles without any sign of habitation. Rita could tell that Priscilla was deeply interested in her surroundings. "It's certainly different," she commented.

"Not exactly desolate," Priscilla said. "I can't find the right word. I feel it inside, but I find myself at a loss to express it. It's lonely—maybe that describes it. You see so few people. And there's so much water. I don't know Florida was like this."

"Florida isn't," Rita laughed, "not the part of Florida one always thinks about. Miami Beach or the citrus groves and the lake region around Orlando. Remember I told you there wouldn't be any beaches in Apalachicola."

"But isn't it on the water?" "Not on the Gulf. It's on Apalachicola Bay. The place is surrounded by water, but the Gulf is over beyond St. George's Island. There's a ferry service; we'll take the car and go over one day. There's talk of a channel through the island to the Gulf, and when that happens, they say Apalachicola will be back on the map in a big way. Don't worry about a beach, Priscilla. When you're through with this business, we're going on down the West Coast and across to Miami."

"Rita, I still can't believe this is real. I feel so relaxed. And I have the strangest feeling that I've seen all this before. It's like coming home or something—as if I belong to this country. Oh, look at those gorgeous palm trees!"

A few miles inward and they were along the water again with only an occasional battered palm etched against the sky, the water stretching away to the far horizon. More signs of life appeared, little settlements with weather-beaten shacks, numerous small craft tied up along the water front, and then they were on a boulevard, still Highway Ninety-eight, but the signs said "Avenue E" and they were inside the city limits. The fishing boats had given way to day-trip homes, quiet and secluded, weathered and dignified, but unimpressive.

"I'm hungry," Priscilla said, her eyes darting. "Where is the town?"

"This is it," Rita pulled to the curb at the corner of Avenue E and Market, on the Market-Street side where several wooden steps led to sidewalk level. There was a seafood restaurant on the corner.

Priscilla laughed. "I've eaten so much fish in the past two days I'll soon be sprouting fins." She paused. "Rita, it looks so—so dried up. It's such a little town." Her voice had lost some of the enthusiasm of a few miles back. After hundreds of miles of driving, this small water-front town, dreaming in the fall sunshine was not very inspiring.

"I told you that," Rita said. "And this is the restaurant where we ate, that time we drove through. I remember the food was good."

They decided on pompano, hot and appetizing with delicious hush-puppies. When they had finished, Rita said, "Now we'll look for a place to stay and find Mr. Todd's office."

A waitress hovering near said, "Are you looking for Mr. Sam Todd, the lawyer? His office is just down this street in the next block. You can see his name on the upstairs window." She was looking at them with friendly curiosity.

Rita thanked her, and as the waitress walked away, her glance came back to Priscilla. "What are you looking at?" "That tall man there at the register who just bought cigarettes was staring at us so hard, particularly at you."

Rita, half turning to see the man, met his eyes as his glance came their way again. He looked first at her, then at Priscilla and back to her again. It wasn't a flirtatious glance, more a speculative look.

He was deeply tanned, his dark hair showing a little gray at the temples. He wore slacks and a yellow pull-over.

They watched the man pick up his change and go out the door. He got into a red Buick which was parked next to their Dodge. Neither remembered the red car being there when they stopped. He did not drive away, but sat there smoking.

"Well!" Priscilla exclaimed. "He certainly gave us the once-over. I hope he leaves before we go out. Can you see the license plates on his car?"

Rita was nearer the window than Priscilla. "Looks like District of Columbia. I don't want him to see me staring. He's probably waiting for someone—" She broke off suddenly, then added, "I wonder why that rough-looking man is inspecting our car so closely?"

"And you didn't lock it," Priscilla reminded her. "I know but it's in plain sight. Look, Priscilla, he's writing something down, and looking at our license number. Do you suppose we're violating something?"

The waitress heard the question. "You're not violating anything. That's Red Gallagher, a shrimp. Red seems to like to look over good-looking automobiles. I don't think he'll bother anything."

She went away, and Priscilla said in a low voice, "That man in the red Buick keeps glancing in here as if he's watching us, too. ... The shrimp fisherman's peeping inside our car now!"

Rita got up. "I'll pretend that I want to get something out of the car."

She went out unhurriedly while Priscilla watched. As Rita went down the steps leading to the street, the fisherman moved away. She opened the car door and picked up Priscilla's notebook from the seat. As she closed the door and looked up, the man in the red Buick dropped his eyes and began writing in a notebook. He did not look her way again; instead, he seemed interested in the fisherman, who was sauntering toward the wharf a block away.

When she got back to their table, Priscilla said excitedly, "That man watched every move you made! Then he started watching the dirty-looking man. Which is he interested in—us or the fisherman?"

"Probably neither. I suspect he's just waiting for someone. Anyway, he's driving away now. We should do likewise and look up Mr. Todd."

Psychiatrist May Help If Fatigue Persists

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEEL tired all the time, even when you haven't worked especially hard? Then perhaps you may need the services of a psychiatrist as well as a physician.

Intensive psychotherapy frequently is called for in cases where the fatigue is out of proportion to the amount of physical and mental labor the patient has performed.

Emotional Basis

Such cases, which are not at all uncommon, generally have an emotional basis. Gynecologists and obstetricians report these symptoms are frequently encountered in their patients. Internists say as many as 50 per cent of their patients voice the complaint.

Many of these cases probably can be traced to childhood when a well-meaning mother strongly emphasized the need for rest.

Sources of Energy

Of course, rest and food, too, are important sources of energy. But no matter how much food or rest you get, it doesn't enable your body to store up a reservoir of energy.

Some persons unconsciously use this need-for-rest idea as an excuse for doing poor work or not achieving much.

If you are one of them, let's see why.

First, you may be satisfying your ego by appearing to be tired all the time. This fatigue might lead others to think that you are a hard worker.

Then again, it may be a way of avoiding responsibility or escaping more work, since less is expected of a tired person.

Sympathy of Others

Perhaps it is a way of gaining the sympathy and kindness of others or of achieving a passive, dependent position. Again, it may be an unconscious attempt to conceal or deny aggression, hostility or even sexual drives.

Monotonous work, boredom, lack of incentive—all these might also be contributing factors.

But whatever the reason, see your physician first. And if he recommends that you consult a psychiatrist, do it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. W. M.: I am a diabetic and have been eating rolled oats for some time. Is the oatmeal too warming to the blood?

Answer: There is no such thing as a food being warming to the blood. However, if you are suffering from diabetes, foods rich in carbohydrates, such as oatmeal, should not be eaten in large amounts.

Your physician will plan your diet for you to control the diabetic condition.

DOGS GUARD MACY STORE AGAINST NIGHT PROWLERS

Red Star comes out of his quarters for his nightly patrol.

By MEL HEIMER

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—In the upper reaches of Macy's, the world's largest department store (last year it did a reported $376 million business), are 11 of the cutest dogs you ever saw—shiny-coated, stalwart, bright-eyed Doberman pinschers.

They are not at Macy's to be cute. They are there to break your arm, if necessary.

For the past three and a half years the handsome, alert beasts, chaperoned by Frank Fay, the store's security director, have patrolled the store's two million square feet of floor space every night—and in that time Macy's hasn't lost a penny's worth of merchandise as a result of this activity. In the nine months before the dogs came, 15 prowlers hid within the store and took varying amounts of goods.

Trained at Canine college in West Redding, Conn., and estimated to have cost the store $1,000 each, counting the expense of schooling them, four of the dogs are charter members of the late patrol—Suzy, Cash, Red Star and Mom. The romance of Suzy and Red Star added seven to the team.

It's no new idea, of course, using dogs to track down prowlers. There always was the bloodhound posse in Uncle Tom's Cabin and the dogs trained by the Army during both world wars. However, Macy's is believed to have inaugurated their use in department stores and the store bosses haven't been sorry for one minute.

SIMILARLY-TRAINED animals, incidentally, are used by I.B.M. in its Poughkeepsie, N. Y., plant (Dalmatians are on watch there) and by songwriter Irving Berlin, who takes one along on his late-hour, lonely walks while he's thinking up tunes.

According to Fay, the dogs are taught to rout out prowlers, sniff out smoke, find escaping steam, track down running water that shouldn't be running and otherwise investigate after-hour irregularities in the 20-story building. "They're always on springs," Fay says.

They attack only when attacked themselves. They're trained just to corner a prowler and hold him there until store police arrive (the store has a security force that reportedly could

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Would you kindly discuss the general subject of late marriage—say, ages 54 and 64, respectively—in terms of good adjustment, worthy purposes and essentials for satisfactory partnership.

Most writings about marriage are directed, naturally enough, to youthful aspirants; and deal with the rearing of children and other concerns appropriate to the first half of life. But it seems to me that the last of life is why the first was made, and, moreover, a time of quite different values—though equally important.

Attention seems to be concentrated on pediatrics (the nurture of children), while geriatrics (the science of aging gracefully) seems to be rather a neglected subject.

Is friendship a sufficient basis for late marriage?

D. C.

DEAR D. C.: Dr. Martin Gumpert, author of "The Anatomy of Happiness," has written extensively in the field of geriatrics—especially in an article entitled: "SQ—A Yardstick For Old Age."

What does Dr. Gumpert mean by "SQ"? He is speaking, he says, of "the 'survival quotient,' or the factors in individual experience that favor longevity." He says these factors can to some extent, be measured; and that they indicate how we may live long, and enjoy it!

A person's "SQ" is not identical with his state of health. That is, he may have a poor health history, and yet survive with amazing hardiness. Survival seems rather to be a matter of interest in life and adaptability. In testing one's survival qualities, Dr. Gumpert explores such questions as these:

Is a person eager to continue his life? How does he manage himself? Has he attained a poor or competent measure of self-realization? Does he recognize a purpose for his life? Does he indulge in illusions? Or is he aware of his limitations and his capacities? Is he wasting his energies or using them wisely?

Other illuminating questions are: How does a person act under stress? Is his stress reaction panic, exhaustion and acceptance of defeat? Or is it increased attention, adaptation, reorientation? Is he addicted to self-pity? Does he like himself? Does he like people? Is he loved, or willing or wanting to love? How does a person face his future? Does he believe he has a future? Is he doing anything to prepare for it?

I don't think mere friendship, if by that you mean impersonal liking, is sufficient basis for the inescapable intimacies of a shared bed-and-board. I think that there isn't much difference, after all, between the requirements of youth and age, on the score of having love. In all probability Dr. Gumpert's book can give you a broad grasp of the general answers you seek.

Turnpike Chieftain Pleased By Revenue

COLUMBUS (AP)—James Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, is "jubilant" over reports of high turnpike revenues for the first 10 days of June. Shocknessy said all records for revenue in any comparable period were topped during the first 10 days of this month. Tolls and concessions brought in an estimated $473,000, he said.

Average revenues for the period may hit $47,500—against a need of about $39,000 a day for all expenses including the reserve required to service the commission's $326 million debt.

agitative thinkers. On this subject our doctors write most learnedly and thoughtfully:

"...What no country has yet been able to accomplish is to insure that highly competent people rise to the top in every sector of life. There were many good scientists in Germany in 1933, but that did not prevent Hitler from coming into power.

To reduce all considerations of national security and welfare to concern over the number of scientists and engineers would be the rankist type of materialism. It would also be to withdraw behind an intellectual Maginot Line."

In the universities today it is fashionable to sacrifice wisdom for knowledge, thinking for know-how. It might, on the face of it, look very practical but as we are troubled in this generation over a conflict of ideas, we need most of all philosophers and of them, there is, indeed, a grave shortage. In a word, what is lacking most is clear, unafraid thinking.

Kochheisers Gain 3rd Win By Edging Out Aquinas 5-4

Local Lads Come From Four Runs Behind; Circleville Now Rules International Division

Circleville's entry in the Columbus Babe Ruth League, Kochheisers, now rule the International Division alone after beating Columbus Aquinas 5 to 4 at Ted Lewis Park Monday evening.

Kochheisers spotted Aquinas four runs in the second inning but came back to win and now boast a 3-0 record. Pitcher Don Rowland aided his own cause by getting two hits, the last one driving in the winning run in the bottom of the fifth.

The local lads, who had been tied in the standings with Aquinas prior to the game, practically handed the contest to the losers in the early stages. In the first two innings, Kochheisers committed six errors, four of which led to all of Aquinas' four runs.

Aquinas scored first, tallying four times in the top of the second on three hits and the four miscues. However, Rowland settled down after that and gave up only two singles the rest of the game.

CIRCLEVILLE got one of the runs back in the bottom of the second. Ted Wellington got the only extra base hit of the game, a double. He stole third and then scored on an infield out.

The score went to 4-2 in the third. With the bases loaded, Wellington drew a walk, forcing in Joe Adkins with Circleville's second run.

Kochheisers knotted the count at 4-4 in the fourth. Rowland and Adkins got back-to-back singles and Cal Ellis drew a walk to again jam the base paths.

Butch Edgington then drew a bead on one of Helenthal's deliveries and smacked a single, driving in Rowland and Adkins.

The winning run came in the fifth frame, making four straight innings in which Circleville scored. Duane Dean singled and stole second. Rowland, the next batter, stepped up and lashed out a single, scoring Dean with what proved to be the winning tally.

In the top of the sixth, Aquinas threatened. But the local lads promptly rattled off a double play—shortstop Ellis to second baseman Terry Dean to first baseman Edgington.

THE GAME was halted after Aquinas had been retired because of darkness.

Kochheisers play this evening when they meet Grove City Furniture at the Jewish Center field in Columbus. Ellis will probably toe the rubber for the local lads.

Martinez Pitted Against DeMarco

NEW YORK — Tony DeMarco of Boston and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., two of the hardest hitters in the welterweight division, meet head-on in a Boston 10-round Saturday night that should produce plenty of fireworks.

The 24-year-old DeMarco, who lost his crown to Carmen Basilio, who lost it back to Johnny Saxton, has flattened 27 of his rivals in posting a 43-6-1 record. The 27-year-old Martinez, winner of 21 straight, has stopped 25 of his opponents. Vince's record is 49-3.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife has extended to June 15 the deadline for sportsmen's clubs wishing to apply for additional pheasants under the recently announced 50-50 pheasant program.

Progressive sportsmen's organizations, desiring to carry on a worthwhile project, which will not only place more birds in the field for their own sport but will also aid the Wildlife Division's program, should look upon this program with favor and enthusiasm.

Under the new program, six-week old pheasants will be supplied to organizations meeting certain requirements. These pheasants are in addition to the Wildlife Division's general releases so cooperation by sportsmen's clubs will result in increased numbers of pheasants for local release.

Up to 300 birds per acre will be furnished to cooperating clubs who will agree to build the rearing pens and furnish the food and care for the birds until they are able to fly out and fend for themselves. By permitting these pheasants, which have been placed in the holding pens, to fly out when they are able and ready, it has been found that the survival and harvest have more than doubled. Birds usually begin flying out of the pens at about 8½ weeks, with some returning to use the pens for several weeks.

Clubs wishing to take part in this worthwhile project should contact their local game protector or write to: Pheasant Project, Ohio Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio. Deadline for applications is June 15.

A Cleveland angler recently found to his apparent surprise, that it "costs" to "dodge the law."

Back in August of 1952, this angler, unable to produce his fishing license with the excuse that he left it at home, was released with instructions to mail his license to the questioning game protector. Failing to send his license to the game protector, the court issued a warrant against the man and sent it to the Cleveland Police Department.

On May 18, 1956, almost four years later, this same Cleveland angler was picked up on another charge by Cleveland Police and pleaded guilty to both charges. This angler is no doubt convinced that a $2 fishing license back in 1952 would have been an inexpensive investment.

Saturday, May 26, was the opening of the Walleye, Bass and Muskellunge season at Pymatuning Lake, on the Ohio - Pennsylvania border in Ashtabula County.

According to a report from Daniel Armbruster, fish management supervisor, walleye fishermen were far less successful than in previous years. Although some fish were taken, they were far fewer

Kids Baseball Games Called

All kids' baseball games for today have been cancelled due to the fact that all the lights at Ted Lewis Park have not been installed.

The Rotary - Kiwanis Little League game has been rescheduled for Friday at 8 p. m. The Purina - Eshelman's Mosquito League game and the Elk's - GE Little League contest will be played next week.

er than normally expected from the some 4,000 people seen fishing in boats at 10 a. m.

Largest walleye checked was a 7½ pounder caught by a 13 year old boy. While this is a good sized fish, it is not uncommon for a number of 10 to 12 pounders and over to be taken on opening day on this fine lake.

When questioned as to the lack of success in taking more walleyes, Armbruster said it was his opinion that fishermen might have been fishing too deeply. During the past few years on opening day the water temperature has been from 68 to 75 degrees, but this year the temperature was only 58 degrees and the fish might have been in the shallower waters. Most fish taken were caught in the north end of the lake, close to the causeway.

Armbruster said if the weatherman cooperates and the water temperature continues to rise the walleye fishing will improve. The season on walleyes, bass and muskies in Pymatuning is open through November 30.

Poirer, Ortega May Tangle Again

NEW YORK — Matchmaker Teddy Brenner today planned to rematch Mexico's Gaspar Ortega and Gene Poirer of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and well he might. They are both action-plus club-fighters and they staged a stirring 10-rounder here last night.

Ortega, the 6-5 favorite, was awarded a split decision in a tightly-fought contest.

Referee Ray Miller (5-3-2) and Judge Joe Eppy (6-4) each scored for Ortega. Judge Nick Gamboli had it even, giving each five rounds and five points.

Maurice McDermott should do all right now that he's with the Yankees. While with Boston and Washington he beat the Yankees only four times in 20 decisions.

Patterson's Pilot Says Moore 'Easy'

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, thinks old folks Archie Moore will present a relatively easy problem.

"We think Moore is an easier, far easier, fighter for Patterson than Hurricane Jackson was," D'Amato said today. "We certainly will not consider it a lucky break for us if we have to put off the fight until a later date."

D'Amato was referring to Patterson's broken right hand, a direct result of the Jackson fight last Friday. D'Amato is going on the theory that the injury will heal in time to fight Moore for the heavyweight title.

"Don't get me wrong," continued the voluble D'Amato. "Moore is dangerous because he is a puncher who can knock you out with one punch. But Jackson, so much younger and stronger, is far rougher than Moore. We knew we had a difficult problem in Jackson. We have no such problem in Moore."

"You know, when we first started talking about the title, I told the IBC people that we'd rather fight Moore before Jackson. Then I changed my mind. I began thinking that if we fought Moore first and knocked him out or beat him, everyone would say Rocky Marciano had softened him for us."

"We proved more by beating Jackson. I don't think Archie would fight Jackson because Hurricane might lick him. But we promise to give Jackson a return bout as soon as we finish with Moore. Hurricane can have the first shot at the title."

Who'd Thought Reds, Bucs To Lead League?

Long-Time Also-Rans Set For 2-Game Series In First Place Battle

CINCINNATI (AP)—Who would have thought that the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates would be playing a crucial game for first place this late in the season? The teams begin a two-game series here tonight with the Reds a half game in front.

A year ago today, Cincinnati had a 21-28 record and was 17½ games behind the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers. The Pirates had 17-36 and were 24½ lengths removed from the top rung.

Pittsburgh nominated Bob Friend, the winningest pitcher in either league this year with 10 victories, to oppose Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall, a 17-game winner last year, but a slow starter in 1956. Friend has taken over as the "mostest" National League pitcher from Philadelphia's Robin Roberts. Friend has won the most games, 10; has pitched the most innings, 122; the most complete games, nine; the most strikeouts, 71, and has the best earned run average, 2.65.

The Reds had a day off yesterday, but hung onto their National League lead with an assist by Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Dodgers topped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-6, and kept the Cards from pushing Cincinnati out of the lead.

Cincinnati's lead was menaced after two straight losses last week-end to the Dodgers, the first losses to Brooklyn this season. Redleg brass breathed a little easier after Brooks Lawrence's pitching hand injury last Sunday turned out not serious.

Lawrence is one of the pitching short Reds' four regular starters and has the best record so far—seven wins without a loss.

If he were knocked out of action for very long, it would place heavy burden on the rest of the pitching staff.

The big Springfield, Ohio, right-hander suffered a jammed thumb when a liner struck his hand in the first inning Sunday.

But trainer Wayne Anderson said ice controlled the thumbs' swelling and Lawrence should be able to start his next turn.

Tom Brewer, the kid right-hander, was almost forgotten in pre-season talk of Boston's pennant potential, but now he's the ace of the Red Sox staff and the only American League pitcher with nine victories.

An 11-10 record last season and a 10-9 mark in 1954 put Brewer in the shadows. Now he's sailing free and easy, with a 2.38 earned run average, eight straight victories and six complete games in his 11 starts. What's more, he has Cleveland's Indians stuffed in his hip pocket.

He set down the second-place Tribe on three hits Monday night 5-1 for his seventh straight verdict over the Indians, the third this season. He didn't give a hit after a fourth-inning double by Vic Wertz as the Sox salvaged a split in their day-night doubleheader. Porterfield gave the Tribe only four hits in the day game, but three of 'em were home runs and Cleveland took it 4-1.

Baltimore replaced Detroit in fifth, by one point, edging the Tigers 5-4. Washington split a twin bill with Kansas City, winning 4-3, then losing 6-3. New York and Chicago were idle.

St. Louis blew a chance for the National League lead, losing to Brooklyn 8-6 as the Dodgers moved into fourth place while Milwaukee slumped to fifth in a 6-2 defeat by Philadelphia. St. Louis fell from second to third behind Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, idle with New York and Chicago.

Brewer had two singles and drove in the deciding run Monday night against loser Mike (4-6) Garcia after Jackie Jensen had tied it 1-1 with his sixth homer. Ted Williams had two doubles in Boston's 10 hits.

The Cardinals chipped in three unearned runs as the Dodgers scored four in the eighth, then iced it with Randy Jackson's two-run double in the ninth. Tom Poholsky lost his fourth straight while Don Newcombe won his ninth with Clem Labipe's relief. Snider had two homers and a single for three RBIs for the Brooks.

While the Dodgers, who benched slump-ridden Roy Campanella, were making it seven victories in nine games, the Braves were dropping their ninth decision in last 12—all at home. Stu Miller, the ex-Card, put his lifetime mark at 8-2 against Milwaukee while Gene Conley lost his third. The Phils packed it away with three in the fifth on four singles and Gran Hamner's double.

Frank Lary, the kid who beats the Yankees, was bopped for three Baltimore runs in the first and the clinching markers in the fifth on Bob Nieman's two-run homer. Hee Brown won his third in relief.

A three-run pinch homer by Carlos Paula beat reliever Bobby Shantz and the A's in the eighth-inning of the opener, in which Johnny Groth's two homers accounted for the Kansas City runs. Pete Ramos won it in relief. Alex Kellner won the nightcap, giving himself two runs on a single.

THAT OLD thumper of the Red Sox, Ted Williams, is back in the Bosox lineup again after a long absence because of broken blood vessels in his foot. And here's Ted, swinging away during game in New York. Ted has been out for five weeks. (International)

Fire Chief Calls Attention To Dangers Of Dry-Hot Season

Grass, Brush Blazes Cause Needless Runs

Wise Notes Lagging Rainfall May Hint Extra-Warm June

Circleville Fire Chief Talmer Wise today called the attention of local property owners to the fact that the worst time of year for grass and brush fires is just about here.

He also noted, in this connection, that the district's rainfall accumulation is running more than one inch below the normal for this date in June. The points he underlined mean as much to the fire department as they do to those who own vacant lots in the city, or farmland in the surrounding rural areas.

Grass and brush fires cause the firefighters to make many needless runs every Summer. Such fires are also frequently a threat to valuable property.

The problem is nationwide.

FIRES THAT started in dry grass or underbrush, a serious hazard in communities of all sizes, numbered nearly 285,000 in urban United States during 1954, latest year for which figures are available.

This figure is approximately one-third of all fires which occurred in this country during that year.

Like most fires, grass and brush fires are preventable. As proof of this, the 1954 total represents a 12 percent decrease from 1953. To

IT'S SIX OF ONE and half a dozen of the other at this record-breaking mass wedding in Blenheim, Ont., where four daughters and two sons of farmer Leo Dorsser, 61, were married to six other Dutch immigrants. They are shown leaving St. Mary's Church to find most of the 2,800 townfolk waiting to greet them. The Dorssers are Cornelius, Andre, Dora, Christina, Wilhelmina and Grada. (International) reduce the figure still further, the National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends the following safety measures:

1. Keep grass cut short near your home and any outbuildings. If there are vacant lots in the neighborhood which are overgrown with grass, tall weeds or underbrush, ask the owner or someone in authority to have them cut down.

2. If you must burn trash, be very sure your fire cannot get out of hand. Burn on a calm day, use a metal basket with a cover, set it well away from any building or fence. Hook up your garden hose and keep it handy. Stay with your fire until it is out and the ashes are cool enough to touch with bare hands. Keep children away.

3. Never throw a lighted match or butt from a car window. Use the car ashtray. And whenever you throw away matches or smoking materials while you are out walking, hunting or picnicking, make sure they are dead out.

4. IF YOU own a field you intend to burn over, the best idea is to change your mind. Burning over a field destroys valuable humus on top of the soil, and the fire is very apt to get out of control. If you must do so, however, first plow a firebreak at least six feet wide around the field. Alert the fire department before you light the fire. Set it to burn against rather than with the wind, and avoid burning when the wind is high.

School Fund Rule Given By Official

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that the 1955 tax duplicate must be used in determining allocation of public school funds for the last quarter of 1956.

R. M. Eyman, state school superintendent, requested the opinion. He said the 1954 tax duplicate formed the basis for distributions for the first three quarters of this year.

School districts must levy at least 10 mills on property to participate in the state school foundation program under which schools receive public funds.

While Oklahoma City Man Fiddles, Neighbors 'Burn'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—While Felix Czajkowski fiddled, his neighbors burned.

In fact, tempers got so hot, the Oklahoma City man was hauled into court on a disturbance charge. One neighbor testified she didn't believe Czajkowski knew one note from another and that he screeched on his violin "constantly." Another claimed he played the fiddle "from early afternoon and sometimes all night long and danced and jumped on the floor." Czajkowski told Police Judge Mike Foster:

"I'm a country-style violinist. I've never had any instructions on the violin."

Judge Foster fined the 42-year-old Czajkowski $7 for disturbing the peace.

Ohio 'Exile Order' Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Andrews (D-Ala.) has asked Attorney General Brownell to investigate an Ohio court order which sent a Negro mother and her eight dependents back to Livingston, Ala., last week.

Andrews reported that Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland issued an "exile order" directing deputies to go to the home of Martha Winstons "and put Martha Winstons and the members of her family on a bus or train for Alabama, over the vigorous protest of Martha Winstons."

The woman and her husband separated five years ago and she went to Cleveland to live four years ago. A juvenile court official testified that the family was not eligible for relief in Ohio but was in Sumter County, Ala.

Appropriation For Air Base Being Studied

Committee In House Considering Request For Over $4 Million

A Lockbourne Air Force Base spokesman said today that an allocation of $4,202,000 is being considered by the House Appropriations Committee for the base south of Columbus.

The money, according to the spokesman, is part of a routine request by the base, which has been averaging approximately $10 million a year in improvements. He added that local contractors already let out for improvements total more than $1 million, part of which will go for repainting buildings.

Apparently, this latest request has nothing whatsoever to do with the once-considered plan by Air Force officials to make LAFB a site for a guided missile base.

The appropriation being asked for LAFB by the Air Force reportedly would cover such improvements as:

STRENGTHENING runways; constructing a building to house the primary navigational aid; construction of new bachelor officers quarters; construction of two "open" messes and recreational facilities; construction of a new chapel; and provide easements for "approach zones".

The LAFB spokesman emphasized that the appropriation is only at the committee level, and must pass both the House and Senate before becoming official.

Grand Jury Indicts Retired Engineer

CLEVELAND — The grand jury today indicted 65-year-old E. Waldo Stein of Akron for malicious entry into a financial institution with intent to rob. The charge amounts to attempted bank robbery.

In a preliminary hearing in Lakewood Municipal Court, Stein pleaded innocent.

He is accused of entering a Cleveland Trust Co. branch bank while armed with a .38 pistol, and ordering the manager to fill up a paper sack with money.

He retired last May 1 as a member of the engineering staff of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

Foster Mother Of 38 Slated For High New Jersey Honors

EAST BRUNSWICK, N. J. — "It all started after our only daughter got married," says Mrs. William Yates, mother of 38 foster daughters, who will be honored today as New Jersey's Foster Mother of the Year.

Gov. Robert B. Mayner will present Mr. and Mrs. Yates, of Old Bridge, a silver tray donated by the State Board of Child Welfare.

The silver-haired woman said when her daughter, now Mrs. Albert Latschar, got married some 25 years ago, she told her husband she would be lonely.

"Since then," she said, "we've had foster children at home, sometimes as many as six or seven girls."

Yates said sometimes he would take his grandson and one of his adopted daughters and go to a swimming pool.

"Well," he said, "we were the center of attraction when people saw two kids of the same age, one calling me 'father' and the other 'grandfather.'"

MRS. YATES explained her foster children are all girls "because we want them at home, and girls spend more time at home."

"The only way to bring up a child is to teach the child to have respect for the home," she said.

Her 38 foster daughters visit her very often, she said, and one lives next to her home. But despite the commotion the house is spotless.

The walls are covered with photographs. Many wedding pictures are also in the house.

Mrs. Yates says her fondest memory of her "daughters" is when the natural grandparents of two of her foster girls wanted them to go and live with them.

The children refused, she said, and stayed with her and grew up like natural sisters.

"One night," she said "around Christmas, I was in the house. I saw no real young children around. I immediately went to the local welfare board and brought back home a foster child."

The source said the 11 probably will get life imprisonment.

Military courts meeting in secret sessions now are deliberating the fate of more than 300 persons arrested after the uprising was put down Sunday. Possibly 100 or more persons died in the brief fighting.

Both Valle and Tanco were retired from the army after Peron was overthrown. The government said Valle would have taken over as president if the revolt had succeeded, and it was believed Tanco was to be vice president.

Aramburu said the main body of the rebels was formed of diehard supporters of Peron. But he said the "head operated with the style of action used by the Communists."

"This movement has ramifications," Aramburu asserted. "By suppressing it we are defending not only Argentine liberty and democracy, but also that of all the American continent."

NEWTON, Mass. — Authorities said today a mixup in preparations caused the poison deaths of two patients at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Sunday night.

The victims were Gordon M. McMullen, 53, a hardware dealer, and Mrs. Marion C. Dumont, 55, wife of an auto dealer.

Dist. Atty. Ephraim Martin said they were given a dose of sodium nitrite by mistake. He said the sodium nitrite was used for cleaning surgical instruments.

Argentina Revolt Leader Is Captured

Pro-Peron General Held; Firing Squad Hinted As Penalty

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — Gen. Juan Jose Valle, sought as a top leader of last weekend's brief but bloody revolt, was reported captured early today.

The newspaper Clarin said it had received information that Valle was taken prisoner and "placed at the disposition of the Army Ministry." Clarin said it did not know whether he had been court-martialed.

Valle and Gen. Raul Tanco, both military bigwigs in the regime of deposed President Juan Peron, were named by the government as the key military leaders in the abortive rebellion. Tanco apparently was still at large.

It was considered likely Valle would face a firing squad, since a high government spokesman said earlier a presidential order commuting 11 death sentences set no precedent for other persons arrested and especially did not extend to Valle and Tanco.

THE SOURCE said the clemency action by Provisional President Pedro Aramburu affected four men in Santa Rosa, the capital of La Pampa province, four non-commissioned officers at Buenos Aires' Campo de Mayo and three men at La Plata. The order came after firing squads had executed 38 military men and civilians as participants in the revolt.

The source said the 11 probably will get life imprisonment. Military courts meeting in secret sessions now are deliberating the fate of more than 300 persons arrested after the uprising was put down Sunday. Possibly 100 or more persons died in the brief fighting.

British Hand Death Sentence To Cypriots, Deport Cleric

NICOSIA, Cyprus — A 23-year-old Cypriot was sentenced to hang today for shooting at two British airmen.

The defendant, Stelios Mavrommatis, pleaded innocent and presumably will appeal the sentence.

British authorities last May 10 hanged two pro-Greek Cypriots for political shootings in the struggle to end British rule of Cyprus and unite the Mediterranean island with Greece.

The pro-Greek Cypriot underground claimed the following day that it had hanged two British soldiers in reprisal for the executions.

Mavrommatis formerly was employed by the Royal Air Force as a clerk. Lawrence Leith and Norman Kitchen, both RAF members, testified at his trial that he was one of three persons who fired at them as they rode bicycles in Nicosia March 15.

They said the shots missed, they fired back, chased the three men and caught Mavrommatis.

Mavrommatis' attorneys argued that he met the other two men accidentally and that the shooting was a surprise to him.

British security forces meanwhile pushed a drive in northwest Cyprus to capture leaders of Eoka, the pro-Greek underground organization.

In London, the British government disclosed it has deported a high official of the Greek Orthodox Church in Britain, Archimandrite Kallinikos Macheriotis.

A Home Office spokesman said the clergyman, a Greek national, was placed on a plane for Athens last night.

The deportation was ordered by Home Secretary G. W. Lloyd George "in the public interest," the spokesman said. He declined to elaborate.

Macheriotis carried out his duties at the Greek Orthodox Church in London yesterday.

Macheriotis was born in Cyprus, lived for a time in Greece and came to Britain about three years ago. His office of archimandrite is approximately equivalent to that of a provost in Western churches.

The Greek Embassy here said it knew of the deportation of Macheriotis, but a spokesman could offer no explanation.

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant, for the full $4.9 billion he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

In Walter Reed Army Hospital, where Eisenhower is recovering from abdominal surgery, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not send a written message to the conference.

HAGERTY SAID Adams told the group of Eisenhower's "deep interest" in the foreign aid bill and that "the President feels that the support of NATO has been really undercut" by the fund-slashing in the House.

Republican Senate leaders reportedly have told Eisenhower's aides to pare administration foreign aid below $4.3 billion.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3.8 billion (Continued on Page Two)

Robeson Facing Rap For Contempt

WASHINGTON — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today voted to cite Paul Robeson for contempt.

The vote came after a furious shouting session between the left wing Negro singer and Chairman Walter (D-Pa) and other members of the committee. The recommendation goes to Congress which has the power to vote the actual citation.

The committee called Robeson in an inquiry, begun last month, into possible use of American passports by Communists.

THE CAMPAIGN will be aided in Pickaway County by The Herald, which will accept written comments on the subject of speeding motorists before the closing date—July 15. Such comments should be mailed or delivered personally to The Herald as soon as possible so that the better ones may be published and possibly relayed to the state highway safety branch.

Highway safety experts, Feltly said, have determined that the five "in-a-hurry" violations are directly responsible for the majority of 548 lives lost on Ohio streets and highways last summer. These five were listed as: Excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, improper passing, following too closely, and failure to yield the right-of-way.

Supreme Court OKs DuPont Setup

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court has rejected 4-3 a government complaint that E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co. illegally monopolized the cellophane business.

The decision upheld a ruling by U. S. Dist. Judge Paul Leahy, of Wilmington, Del., clearing the company of creating and maintaining a monopoly.

Appealing directly to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department insisted Du Pont had power to exclude cellophane competition and to control prices, and had achieved that power "by the use of means which were illegal."

Tot, Matches Mix; Death Is Winner

CLEVELAND — Two-year-old Robert Smith, burned over 65 per cent of his body yesterday after accidentally setting fire to his parents' East Side apartment, died today in St. Luke's Hospital.

Police said Robert started the fire in a bedroom while he was playing with matches.

'Great Injury' Claimed Ahead If Slash Is OKd

$3.8 Billion Fund Approved By House Said Far Too Little

WASHINGTON — Administration civilian and military leaders urged Senate Republican and Democratic leaders today to restore at least $600 million of the $1.1 billion slashed from the foreign aid bill by the House.

The Senate leaders said after a White House conference that Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told them "great injury" would be done if $600 million was not added to the $3.8 billion authorization measure passed by the House yesterday.

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant, for the full $4.9 billion he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

In Walter Reed Army Hospital, where Eisenhower is recovering from abdominal surgery, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not send a written message to the conference.

HAGERTY SAID Adams told the group of Eisenhower's "deep interest" in the foreign aid bill and that "the President feels that the support of NATO has been really undercut" by the fund-slashing in the House.

Republican Senate leaders reportedly have told Eisenhower's aides to pare administration foreign aid below $4.3 billion.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3.8 billion (Continued on Page Two)

Robeson Facing Rap For Contempt

WASHINGTON — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today voted to cite Paul Robeson for contempt.

The vote came after a furious shouting session between the left wing Negro singer and Chairman Walter (D-Pa) and other members of the committee. The recommendation goes to Congress which has the power to vote the actual citation.

The committee called Robeson in an inquiry, begun last month, into possible use of American passports by Communists.

THE CAMPAIGN will be aided in Pickaway County by The Herald, which will accept written comments on the subject of speeding motorists before the closing date—July 15. Such comments should be mailed or delivered personally to The Herald as soon as possible so that the better ones may be published and possibly relayed to the state highway safety branch.

Highway safety experts, Feltly said, have determined that the five "in-a-hurry" violations are directly responsible for the majority of 548 lives lost on Ohio streets and highways last summer. These five were listed as: Excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, improper passing, following too closely, and failure to yield the right-of-way.

Supreme Court OKs DuPont Setup

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court has rejected 4-3 a government complaint that E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co. illegally monopolized the cellophane business.

The decision upheld a ruling by U. S. Dist. Judge Paul Leahy, of Wilmington, Del., clearing the company of creating and maintaining a monopoly.

Appealing directly to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department insisted Du Pont had power to exclude cellophane competition and to control prices, and had achieved that power "by the use of means which were illegal."

Tot, Matches Mix; Death Is Winner

CLEVELAND — Two-year-old Robert Smith, burned over 65 per cent of his body yesterday after accidentally setting fire to his parents' East Side apartment, died today in St. Luke's Hospital.

Police said Robert started the fire in a bedroom while he was playing with matches.

State Seeking Ideas To Slow Fast Drivers

Local Public Asked To Suggest Methods; Herald Participating

Ohio's Department of Highway Safety has asked the people of Pickaway County and the rest of the state:

"What do YOU suggest to tame the speeding driver?"

The department said its "slow down and live" campaign would save hundreds of lives if adopted by every Ohio motorist.

"If you have a favorite idea about how to tame the speeding driver, this is your chance to let the world and the culprit in question hear about it," said U. C. Feltly, department director.

Whether it involves enforcement, engineering, education, legislation or some other means yet untried, it's worth discussion, he said.

Feltly said to facilitate the idea campaign, he is asking the newspapers of Ohio to cooperate by printing some of the outstanding contributions, "which may be made by postcard or letter to the contributor's own local newspaper, along with his or her name and address."

THE CAMPAIGN will be aided in Pickaway County by The Herald, which will accept written comments on the subject of speeding motorists before the closing date—July 15. ## DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"BRUSH FOR PAINTING ZEBRAS"

If you're a dyed-in-the-wool Doodler, you probably won't be satisfied with the title of this Doodle and will want to make up a couple of spares in case of emergency. For instance, it might also be called "A SHAVING BRUSH FOR A BARBERSHOP QUARTET" or even "A BROOM FOR SWEEPING BOWLING ALLEYS."

Of course these titles are pretty logical and if you're the Non-Objective or Picasso-type Doodler you will want to call it something more neurotic, like perhaps "A COMBINATION DUST MOP AND CANDELABRA" or "A WHISK BROOM WITH A SPLIT PERSONALITY." Or even "A WHATCHA WITH SPARE MA CULLANTS" or maybe "A BRUSH FOR PAINTING ZEBRAS" (That last one sounds familiar. I must've heard it some place before).

'Great Injury' Claimed Ahead of Slash Is OK'd

foreign assistance authorization bill passed 273-122 by the House yesterday.

One Republican, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower's assistants were told they would be lucky if the Senate added half a billion to the House figure.

The President's aides were told firmly, this conferee said, that they must justify fully and in detail any proposed increases over the House ceiling.

Even then, the consensus of the GOP leaders was that it would be difficult to obtain any boosts.

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, has said that if the $1 billion cut in military aid funds is allowed to stand, it would "seriously impair programs essential to the defense of the U. S."

Leading Democrats made it clear there will be a move to slash the House amount further in the Senate.

Sen. Long (D-La.), who has sponsored fund-cutting amendments in the past, said he was happy about the House slash and hopes the Senate will make further reductions.

Long is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which will begin voting tomorrow on items in the authorization bill.

Death Of C. C. Wolf, Hay Dealer

The sight of an unmanned tractor pulling a mower through a field of hay late yesterday led to the discovery of the death of Chester C. Wolf, widely known Circleville hay dealer.

Good notified Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff, who in turn called for Pickaway County Coroner Ray Carroll. Time of death was estimated at 6 p. m. Mr. Wolf resided at 453 N. Court St. and had his business office on W. Mount St.

Sheriff Radcliff said the riderless tractor, moving in circles around the field, at one time nearly ran over Mr. Wolf's body.

Parley Space For Ohioans To Be Rather Shy

Political Convention
Guests To Face Lack Of Seats, Hotel Rooms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Acute shortages of hotel rooms for Ohio guests of national political conventions this year.

Whether it's a convention hall seat or a hotel bed depends on your party preference.

Democrats lack enough seats for those wanting to attend their convention opening Aug. 13 in Chicago's Stockyards Hall.

Republicans can't find enough good hotel rooms in San Francisco for delegates and guests at their convention opening Aug. 20 in the vast Cow Palace.

Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, Democratic national committee chairman handling Ohio arrangements has this to say about the Chicago ticket shortage:

"This year Ohio will only receive 60 tickets for each session of the convention. The reason we will receive such a small allotment is on account of the large number of delegates and alternates."

"In 1952 there were 3,152 delegates and alternates and this year there are 4,640. In addition there is the problem of TV coverage which makes it necessary to curtail access to the convention floor for the public."

"Suggest that you tell anyone who wants to attend the convention that there will be very few tickets available for guests."

Ohio delegation headquarters will be in Chicago's Hotel Sherman.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican state chairman and national committee member, expects to have about 200 tickets available for Ohio guests at San Francisco. He fears that won't be enough.

But Bliss says his real headache is housing. Ohio delegates expect to stay at the Palace Hotel. Alternates and other Ohioans face a tough problem in getting first-rate accommodations. Some may find themselves miles from the convention hall in rooms they don't like, Bliss cautioned.

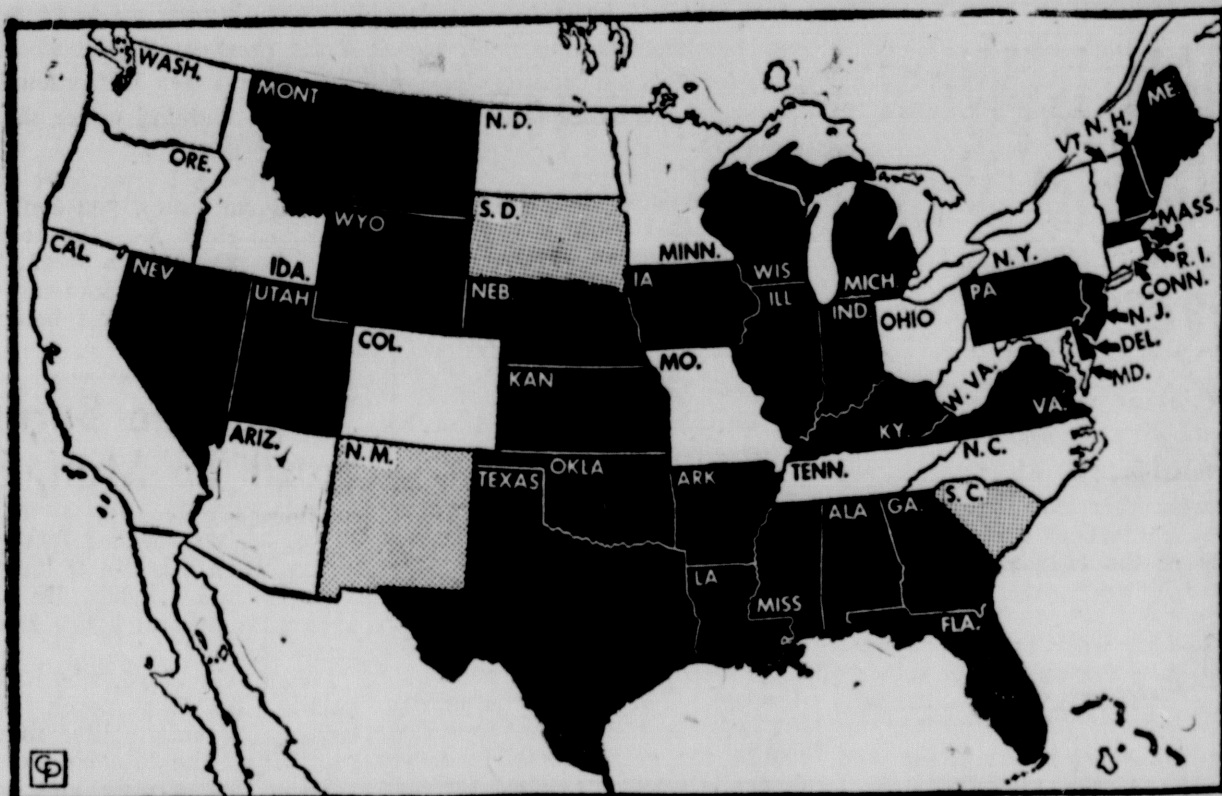

Republicans will have a total of 2,646 delegates and alternates at their convention, compared with 2,412 four years ago.

Ohio will send 56 delegates and 56 alternates, the same number as in 1952. Each congressional district elected two delegates and two alternates in the May 8 primary. Ten at-large delegates and 10 at-large alternates were elected statewide.

The delegation is pledged to U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker as "favorite son" in a holding operation for President Eisenhower. Each Ohio delegate has a full vote.

Ohio Democrats will have 70 delegates and 70 alternates carrying a total of 58 votes at their convention. Two delegates from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts will have a full vote each. Twenty-four at-large delegates elected statewide will have a half vote each. Ohio also will have 24 alternates at-large.

Four years ago Ohio had 62 delegates carrying 54 full votes. Forty-six delegates had a full vote each and 16 at-large delegates had a half vote apiece. The '52 delegation split down the middle be-

South Carolina adopted a resolution calling on the federal government to evaluate tax levies of federal, state, and local governments, and make recommendations to Congress.

Ohio Bishop Fears Way Being 'Lost'

LAKESIDE (AP) — In a sermon here, Ohio Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner declared that "the greatest blasphemy of our time is that all we need to do to solve our problems is to read a book." Psychology is a great tool, "but certainly no saviour," he said, adding:

"In our preoccupation with things and with ourselves, we have lost our way and we can never find our way home again until like the prodigal we begin to be in want and seek our father; then only shall we know peace of mind and heart and soul."

Lima Youth's Body Found In Lake

BELLEFONTAINE (AP) — The body of Gene Nye, 18, of near Lima, was recovered yesterday from Indian Lake.

State conservation workers dragged the lake for more than 12 hours before recovering the body of the youth, who drowned Sunday.

Between former U.S. Sen. Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland as "favorite son" and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Bulkley released his delegates to Adlai E. Stevenson, the party nominee.

This year most of the Ohio Democratic delegation is pledged to Gov. Frank J. Lausche as "favorite son." The five-term governor has said he would allow his name to be placed in contention for the presidential nomination. Although disclaiming ambition for national office, Lausche said he would not refuse nomination.

Lausche is the Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator in the Nov. 6 election in case lightning fails to strike him in Chicago.

Four district delegates with as many in the Ohio delegation are anti-Lausche and might cause the governor some embarrassment at the convention.

Convention managers reportedly hold a dim view of Lausche's reputation for political independence. His recent exchange with Paul M. Butler, national Democratic chairman, over party matters also could work against the Ohioan, politicians said, and account for the Buckeye ticket shortage.

Supreme Court Labeled 'Cheap'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Cowboy candidate for governor J. Evetts Haley has called the Supreme Court "a bunch of cheap politicians" who should be impeached by Congress.

Haley, former history professor and author, said if the federal government should seek to enforce an integration injunction against a school board, the state should resist to the point of "throwing the U. S. marshal in the hoosegow."

If the government should send P. S. troops, "that would mean a police state," Haley said. He said he didn't think the conflict would go that far. He added that he would not want to carry resistance to the point of secession, commenting he didn't think it would be necessary.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leaders of the American Communist party at a secret meeting in March, decided to differ with the Russian leadership from time to time—but never on basic issues.

The information comes from a source which cannot be named but is completely reliable. The decision does not mean any break between Moscow and the U. S. party leaders who for years have slavishly followed every twist in the Moscow line.

Far from it. It is simply a switch in tactics intended to make the American party look less like a Russian stooge and to try to gain some influence and tolerance in the United States.

But last week's startling editorial in the party newspaper, the Daily Worker, sharply criticizing the new Russian leaders cannot be assumed to reflect the party's new tactics.

It is an educated guess—and that phrase is used carefully—that John Gates, Daily Worker editor, has already been secretly condemned by the party leaders for going much further than they liked or intended.

The March meeting followed the February attack made in Moscow on the dead Stalin by Communist party boss Khrushchev. He talked to the party's 20th Congress and said his remarks should not be leaked to the public.

But they were leaked. Last week the State Department made public a 25,000-word version of Khrushchev's speech.

Khrushchev suggested Communists around the world switch tactics and try to create popular fronts with Socialists and others in order to take over peacefully when and where they can.

He specifically said, however, that revolution still would be necessary in those countries which resisted overthrow without violence. It is also an educated guess that the U. S. Communist party received—before its March meeting and after Khrushchev's talk—instructions from the Kremlin on what line to follow in order to gain more power here.

The same reliable source which provided the information about the secret March meeting said Eugene Dennis, the party's secretary and real leader, laid down the new line at the meeting.

He quoted Dennis that it would have been smarter if through the years the American Communists had not always gone along—in public—100 per cent with everything Moscow said or did.

As an example, Dennis is said to have cited the party's complete endorsement of the 1939 Hitler-Stalin pact which not only shocked Americans in general but so disillusioned many Communists that they got out of the party in droves.

Dennis reportedly said it would have been shrewder if the party had straddled the fence on the Hitler-Stalin agreement. Dennis, 51, was one of the 11 top Communists found guilty in 1949 of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government. He was given five years in jail.

Editor Gates' editorial in the Daily Worker last week criticized Khrushchev, in denunciation of Stalin, for not mentioning Stalin's attacks on the Jews. It raised questions about the role played by Khrushchev and the other new Russian leaders in Stalin's lifetime.

Gates, 43, was one of the 11 Communists convicted with Dennis. He, too, drew five years. It is possible the party may try to find some way of repudiating Gates' editorial, even to saying it does not represent the party's views.

In short, the American Communist leaders want to give the appearance, but not too strongly, of being their own men. They know that being considered Russian stooges stands in the way of any progress they hope to make.

County Relief Expenditure Up

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's 88 counties boosted their relief expenditures to $84,131,828 last year, an $11,435,866 increase over 1954.

Reports by county auditors show poor relief accounted for the greatest share of the expenditures with $33,387,546 or more than 39 per cent of the total. Aid to dependent and crippled children was next with $19,067,268 or more than 22 per cent of the total. Reports on city relief expenditures are incomplete but they were expected to total between about $7 million.

Let's All Go Shopping!

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
Home Demonstration Agent
Farm Extension Service

June is the month of greatest milk production and since 1938 has been designated as Dairy Month.

For the sake of good all-around nutrition, we should each day honor milk and its many wholesome products.

Since this is the first of the warm months when cold foods are popular, let's all go shopping for frozen milk desserts and or the materials to make them.

The frozen milk desserts — ice cream, frozen custard, "soft-serv" and sherbets — are available in either handy-sized cartons or in bulk. They come in more than 150 different flavors, which make them ideal for spur-of-the-moment entertaining.

THERE IS a frozen dessert to suit the tastes of every member of the family. They can definitely be "personalized" by the unlimited possibilities for home-made toppings. They can be served with sauces, fruit, on pie or cake, with cookies, cupcakes, or just plain, if that is the preference.

There is always that special edible "garnish" which draws special attention.

The standards for milk desserts are under the supervision of the Food and Dairies Division of the Ohio Department of Agriculture. Foodshoppers will find four classifications of milk desserts in Ohio:

- (1) Ice cream must contain at least 10 percent milk fat, 18 percent milk solids and not more than one-half of one percent stabilizer.
- (2) Frozen custard must include 1 1/4 percent egg solids, in addition to the requirements for ice cream to be labeled frozen custard.
- (3) "Soft-serv" dessert has at least 6 percent milk fat and complies with the other requirements for ice cream. It is most often found at attractive roadside stands and sold under a trade name.
- (4) Sherbets will have less milk solids than ice cream and include fruit juices. Generally, sherbets are rather grainy in comparison to the other frozen desserts and have stronger flavors.

PRE-PACKAGED and bulk milk desserts are generally made from the same basic mix and have a comparable percentage of "over-run". The pre-packaged desserts are often less in price per unit than the equivalent in bulk. Technology and mass production make packaging costs lower at the manufacturing plant than at the retail counter.

The weight of package desserts may be an indication of the amount of "over-run", or air which has been stirred into the basic mix. The minimum weight of a gallon of ice cream is four pounds and four ounces. One can plan on six servings per quart, or 24 to 26 servings per gallon.

Frozen milk desserts are good sources of vitamin A, riboflavin, calcium and phosphorus. They are relatively low in calories, less than 200 in the average-sized serving.

"The proof of the dessert is in the eating" and foodshoppers' best guide to purchasing frozen milk desserts is to buy and compare and thus develop a pattern of preference.

The ice cream consumption in the United States has more than doubled in two decades, rising to about 15 quarts per year for every man, woman and child. Last year, in its first year of operation, the special school milk program achieved an increase in consumption of 451 million half pints of milk in participating schools.

Schools will be out of the milk

promotion business for almost three months. So let's all help maintain and promote the easiest and most economical way to get the daily requirement of calcium. Let's both eat and drink milk—one of the most nearly complete foods. It can well be the principle food in any diet.

SOMETHING NEW is not unusual. But did you know that a new type mix has just been introduced by one of the major foods corporations? It is a milk shake mix which comes in three flavors: chocolate, strawberry and vanilla. Added to whole fresh milk or reconstituted dry milk and sugar, one package makes two large glasses of milk shake.

The process takes just a few minutes. This product is now available in most food stores.

HERE'S HOW...

... MAKE A SEESAW

A safe, sturdy, portable seesaw is easily made, using 2-inch lumber.

First make two A-frames as shown in the drawing. To avoid angle measurements, a frame pattern may be drawn, full-scale on large paper or on a basement floor. Then the angles are marked off on the lumber.

The frames are joined with 2 pieces of 2 by 6: a cap and two lower connections. These may be nailed with 40-penny nails. All other fastenings are 4-inch carriage bolts, with the smooth heads of the bolts on the inside of the structure.

A 1-inch pipe, 23 inches from the ground level will support the seesaw plank. If threaded at both ends, the pipe may be capped with a flange or collar to prevent slipping. If it is not threaded, holes may be bored for a bolt, used as a cotter pin.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer James Shea. His offices are in the basement of the courthouse at Circleville.)

Q—Last week in your column, you gave the amount of subsistence allowed a veteran for full-time schooling under the Korean GI Bill. What is the subsistence for a veteran attending school only half-time?

A—Subsistence for a veteran enrolled in a half-time course is $50 a month if he has no dependents, $60 if he has one dependent and $80 if he has more than one dependent.

Q—I am receiving 100 percent service-connected compensation. What is the amount of income that I can earn before it will effect this compensation?

A—There is no income limitation with regards to a service-connected compensation. No matter how much you earn, your compensation will not be reduced unless your disability is improved. However, for a total non-service-connected pension there is an income limitation.

Q—I noticed in last week's column, that there is a possibility of a Korean state bonus. What are the eligibility requirements for this bonus, and what is the amount of the bonus?

A—Any person who was on active duty in the armed forces of the United States at any time between June 25, 1950 and July 19, 1953 (both dates inclusive), and who at the time of commencing such service was and had been a resident of the state of Ohio for at least one year immediately preceding the start of such service, shall be eligible for the bonus. He must either have been honorably discharged, or still in the service.

The bonus will amount to $10 per month for each month in active domestic service, and $15 for each month of active foreign service within said period of time. The maximum amount of the bonus shall be $400. The bonus for a fraction of a month shall be paid at the rate of 1-30 of the above mentioned figures per day.

Q—I have been carrying my converted National Service Life Insurance now for 10 years. How much can I borrow on it?

A—It is impossible to give a definite answer to this question without knowing the type of insurance you are carrying and your age when you converted. You can, however, borrow up to 96 percent of the reserve on your insurance.

Q—Can I get institutional on-the-farm training under the Korean GI Bill?

A—You can if you have control of the farm, and if you don't mind traveling about 60 miles to school a couple times each week. There are no schools in Pickaway County. The nearest one, I believe, is in Athens County.

Turpentine Burns Fatal To Man, 35

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gerbers Floyd, 35, was burned fatally yesterday when a bottle of turpentine exploded in his hands. He died in a hospital several hours after the accident.

Police said Floyd, who had been painting the front porch at his home, apparently spilled some turpentine on the kitchen stove. He suffered burns over most of his body when flames engulfed the kitchen.

16.6 Pounds Candy Said U.S. Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you ate more than 16.6 pounds of candy last year, you ate more than your share. The Commerce Department says that was an average consumption per person in 1955, as the confectionery industry turned out 2,724,000,000 pounds of candy and set a new dollar sales record of $1,031,000,000.

Will Your Children Find Jobs When They Finish School?

This month, 182,836 boys and girls will be graduated from high schools in the six states served by the N&W. Some will continue their education, but 129,400 will look for jobs.* Meanwhile, thousands of college graduates also will begin looking for employment.

Thanks substantially to industrial growth in these states, most of these young people will find jobs. They'll start at the bottom of the ladder, but at least there'll be a ladder for them, and they'll be on the way.

Since January, 1950 — along the N&W alone — there have been 850 new industries and additions to established ones, creating 42,352 jobs just within these industries. That's not all. Based on survey figures of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, these 42,352 new workers created 31,341 jobs in other types of business.**

With our big population increase, job increases are vital. It's reassuring to know that job opportunity keeps pace with job demand in this great and growing area.

The Norfolk and Western takes pride in being a member of the industrial development team in this Land of Plenty — by providing the dependable rail service industry must have . . . by consistently advertising to business executives the outstanding industrial advantages of this area . . . and by providing industry the unlimited service of its experienced plant location specialists.

So long as industrial growth can be maintained, your children will find jobs when they finish school. Maintaining that growth is a job to which the N&W pledges a continuing, all-out effort.

*Based on estimates by education officials in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and Kentucky.

**This survey showed that in the average community, 100 new industrial workers result in an additional 74 workers in other businesses in the community.

Even Truck Sales Showing Some Softness

Profitable Sideline Of Auto Industry Has Troubles Too

By SAM DAWSON

DETROIT (AP) — Two toned cars may be the glamor girls of the automobile industry but this year it's the broad beamed trucks that have been bringing home the sales and profits.

But of late even the trucks, like so many other things in the economy, have begun to show a split personality.

Light weight truck sales have turned soft, industry spokesmen say. They report a drop in purchasing by farmers, one of their big customers. Makers hope for a sales pickup in the fall.

Heavy duty trucks, on the other hand, are still barreling right down the highway. And the new multi-billion dollar highway system now in the works doesn't cloud their forward vision in the least. Backlogs of orders are high.

They cite: The many new plants being built on the outskirts of cities or along the throughways; the plants being dispersed into semi-rural or previously non-industrial areas from the cities, meaning a rash of shopping centers and branch stores to be served; and changes in a number of state laws to permit bigger truck and trailer units to pound the highways.

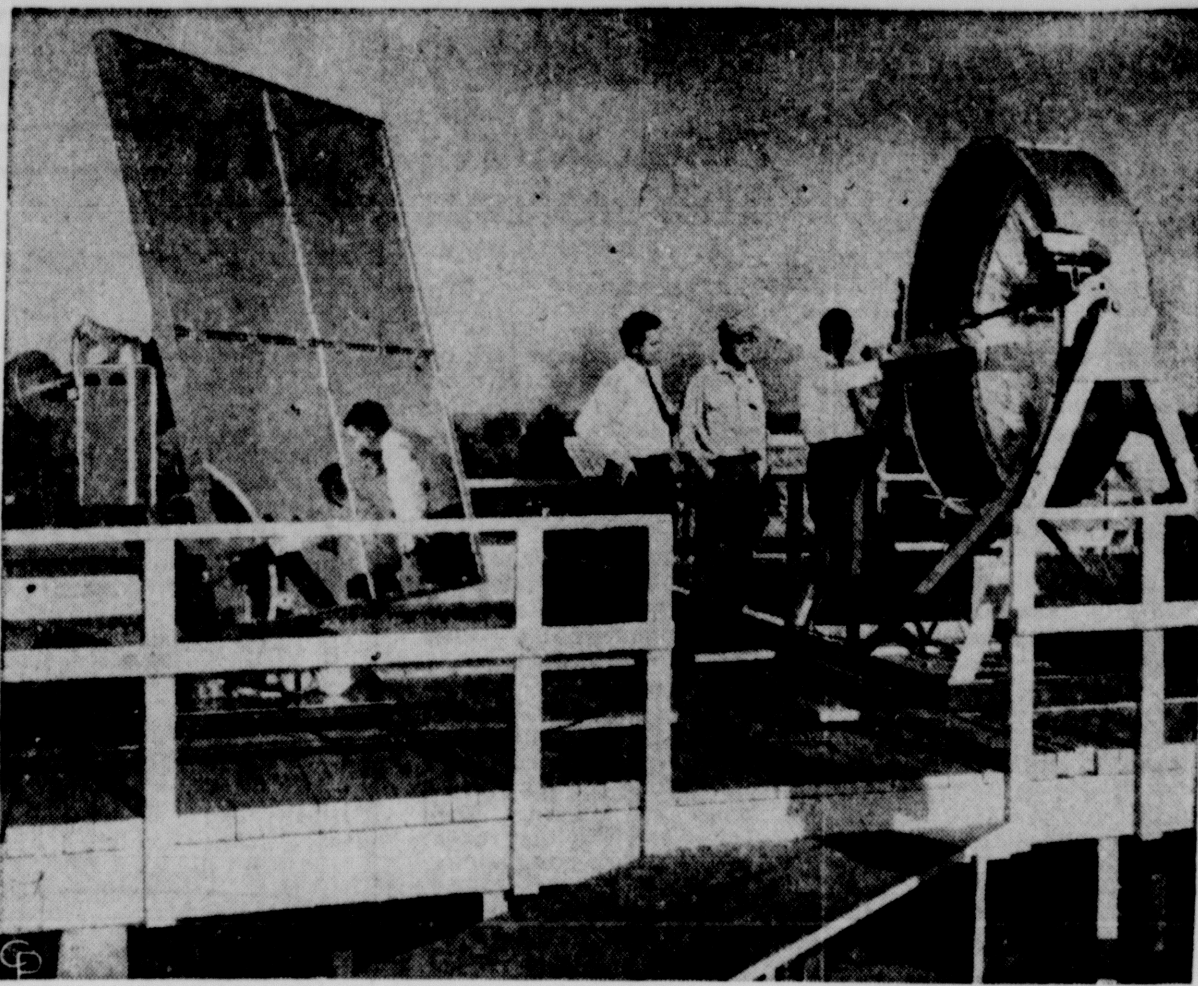

Heavy duty truck builders point out that for some time their gains have outpaced the truck market as a whole.

The slippage in light truck sales and production is much less than in that of pleasure cars. Latest Ford figures show output of trucks off 18 per cent from a year ago while Ford passenger cars dropped 24 per cent.

General Motors, although noting a recent softening in demand for light trucks, still figures industry sale of all trucks this year at 950,000. Chrysler reports its truck sales a pleasanter part of its picture but wishes they were better.

Still happier figures and forecasts come from the independents. White Motor, a heavy truck builder, report sales rose 36 per cent in the first three months of the year and profits rose 41 per cent.

John L. McCaffrey, chairman of International Harvester, says in Chicago, "Our backlog of motor truck orders shows no signs of

Board Studies Selection Of School Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education is moving cautiously in making its first selection of a state superintendent of public instruction.

That was indicated by Board President Robert A. Manchester of Canfield after Monday night's meeting of the board here. Said Manchester: "We are proceeding cautiously. It is a serious thing, and we will have to live with the decision a long time."

The board meets again today, but Manchester said he believes the matter of appointing a new superintendent will be postponed. The board, authorized up by a constitutional amendment last fall, continued the present superintendent, R. M. Eyman in office pending decision on a permanent appointment. Eyman also is one of six men being considered for the permanent appointment.

At Monday night's session the board adopted a resolution sponsored by Loren E. Souers Jr., of Canton, calling upon the Ohio attorney general to rule how the board may determine if local school boards are complying with state school laws.

Souers said the board was informed at its last meeting of one instance of padded school attendance rolls.

The board ordered further study of an organizational plan for the State Department of Education which would include a deputy superintendent, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and an assistant superintendent of administration and finance.

Bank Chief, Wife Drive Off Bandit

STOCKBRIDGE, Ga. (AP) — A wide search was in progress today for a bandit who tried to rob the Citizens Bank of Stockbridge Monday and was driven off by the blazing pistols of the bank president and his wife.

The robber apparently was wounded before he escaped in a car from this town about 25 miles southeast of Atlanta.

Mrs. Charles T. Loder, 45-year-old cashier and wife of the bank president, said the man looked very much like the gunman who robbed the bank of $4,500 May 4, 1955, and never was captured.

"I shot four times," she said.

Loder, 46, said he fired at the man five times.

The average man weighing 150 pounds can exert one-eighth horsepower.

Ohio Votes 12-10 For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio representatives Monday voted 12-10 in favor of the $3,800,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill which the House passed and sent to the Senate, 273 to 122.

Representatives voting for the bill were Democrats Ashley, Feighan, Hays, Kirwan and Vanik; Republicans Ayres, Frances Bolton, Oliver Bolton, Jenkins, Minshall, Schenck and Vorys.

Against the bill were Democrat Polk and Republicans Baumhart, Betts, Bow, Cleveland, Henderson, Hess, McCulloch, McGregor and Scherer.

Rep. Brown, Republican, was announced as paired against the bill.

Ohio's Wheat May Average 25½ Bushels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has predicted that Ohio wheat growers will average 25 bushels to the acre of this year's crop.

The federal experts put the Buckeye State's total 1956 production at 37,918,000 bushels. The forecast came as the department said the over-all national production would be 922,672,000 bushels.

This is the first estimate for the full crop and compares with 938,159,000 produced last year and 1,146,547,000 for the 10-year (1945-54) average.

The winter wheat crop was forecast at 670,375,000 bushels compared with 681,432,000 indicated a month ago. Production last year was 705,372,000 bushels and the 10-year average 872,635,000.

The forecast for the spring wheat crop—the first of the season—was 252,297,000 bushels compared with 232,787,000 produced last year and 273,912,000 for the 10-year average.

The wheat crop, like those of the previous two years, is being grown under rigid government marketing quotas designed to produce not more than about 900 million bushels. Reserve and surplus stocks equivalent to an average size crop have been accumulated under price support programs.

Tibet's New Year festival falls usually in February or March.

Detroit, 71, Said Counterfeiter

DETROIT (AP) — Social Security and old age assistance payments were not enough to furnish 71-year-old Paul Eifert with what he considered a fair standard of living, so he began turning out home-made $10 bills.

He was sentenced Monday to three years in prison for possessing counterfeit money.

Eifert's 82-year-old partner Paul Carro was put on probation for one year. He was arrested May 8 and accused of passing a bogus $10 bill at Ft. Miami race track in Toledo, Ohio.

The two men pleaded guilty.

This '56 Buick is packed with new features—and priced close to the smaller cars!

WANT SOME QUICK FACTS on the big news in automobiles today—news that can guide you to a smart move and a real smart buy?

Then listen—it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments—in styling—in power—in performance—in ride and handling—that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick SPECIAL—like the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars—but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whale of a lot more new car for the money.

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflo gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car—catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile your money can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

IMPORTANT FIND

WHAT IS BELIEVED to be the only portrait of Tecumseh, famous Shawnee Indian chief, in existence has been discovered by George I. Quimby, curator of North American archaeology and ethnology at the Natural History Museum in Chicago. The oil painting, that of an Indian in white man's garb, has been stored at the museum since 1894, when it—with 34 others—was purchased from a grandniece of Gen. William Clark of the famed Lewis and Clark expedition. The paintings were formerly owned by Clark.

Miss Emily O'Fallon of St. Louis, the grandniece, wrote that a portrait of Tecumseh was included in the collection, but apparently no effort to identify it had previously been made. Of the 35 paintings, 33 were by the famous painter of Indians and Indian scenes, George Catlin, and another was by Chester Harding, another famous painter of Indians. Both arrived in the Midwest after Tecumseh's death. The other painting, believed to be of Tecumseh, was unsigned.

Tecumseh led 2,000 warriors of allied tribes against the United States in the War of 1812, when he was commissioned a brigadier general in the British army. Tecumseh was killed in the battle of the Thames on October 5, 1813, when he opposed forces led by William Henry Harrison, who later became President.

The only pictorial depiction of the Indian previously known to be in existence was based on a pencil sketch made about 1803 by Pierre Le Dru, a French trader at Vincennes, Ind. In more recent publication this usually appeared with the subject bedecked in a British brigadier's uniform.

RED 'RELAXATION' A SHAM

IN THE SOVIET satellites' rush to dump their "Stanlinist" leaders, Eastern Germany has been, as the experts say, 'conspicuously absent.'

The same leaders associated with the brutal terrorism of the late dictator, including communist party boss Walter Ulbricht, are in control. Elsewhere, as the current "relaxation" of repressions took place, such persons were ousted.

This illustrates a point made recently by Dr. Josef Korbel, head of the Foreign Relations Institute at Denver University and a former Czechoslovak diplomat. He said he didn't believe that Russia would ever permit her puppet regimes to gain any real freedom from Moscow ties.

He further said that the June uprising of three years ago, in which many East Germans lost their lives in trying to oust the Russians, had showed other satellite peoples how foolhardy it would be to try to rebel. The Russians were able to crush the revolt in three days.

Memory of the June affair obviously still is too clear and too frightening to the communist bosses to allow them to make any concessions.

The bosses in the Kremlin cannot afford to lose their satellites. And any "relaxation" they permit is designed to complement homefront efforts, not to permit true freedom. The whole affair is a sham.

These Days

Messrs. Eli Ginzberg, Edward A. Fitzpatrick, Howard A. Meyerhoff and Eugene M. Kulischer, professors and specialists in various fields, have joined together to study the human resources of this country with the object of relating it to the national security.

Their monograph on the subject is as interesting as it is important, but what fascinated me is that right at the start they more or less debunk the excitement over shortages by making this very simple and correct statement of fact:

"... There is a shortage of good baseball players, of top-flight business executives; beautiful women are in short supply; competent philosophers are likewise scarce. How could it be otherwise, then, than that there would be a shortage of good scientists and engineers?"

That is just the point. Really competent, skilled, imaginative, thinking persons are rare no matter what the field of activity or interest. In the United States, even 30 years ago, a B. A. or a B. S. degree meant something that gained a person respect and opportunity. Today, these baccalaureate degrees are a dime a dozen, like high school diplomas.

To move out of the proletariat into the learned professions, one needs a Ph.D. which does not really mean that the person knows more or has a better mind; it only means that he has narrowed his field of learning to a minute specialty and that in that narrow area he has gained an intense proficiency.

It hardly seems worth while to do all that work and to delay marriage and having a family for a job that brings between $7,500 and $10,000 a year. Also the young man knows, if he is at all intelligent, that while he may understand the habits of a seaweed, he understands little else and therefore he starts life discontented and frustrated.

Many educators are deeply concerned about the narrowness of specialization and the little time left the student for an education and they confer about it and have some committees making special studies. But the difficulty is that the boy who majors in engineering or science is stuck with so heavy a load if he is ever to get into a top-notch graduate school that he has no time for an equal concentration on learning which is now categorized as the humanities.

Possibly the only solution is a three-semeester year which would reduce the Summer vacation.

Those who make a great to-do about the shortage of engineers point to the enormous number of engineers and scientists that Soviet Russia turns out. In this connection, the learned doctors whom I quote above, said:

"... Considering what we do not know about our own scientific and engineering manpower resources, comparative analyses of the United States and the Soviet Union would seem to rest on shaky grounds. To advise caution about such comparisons does not commit one to lack of concern about the magnitude and quality of the effort the Soviet Union is making to strengthen its scientific manpower resources."

It needs to be remembered that mass education in Soviet Russia only started after the 1917 Revolution and that advantages which in this country go to other kinds of persons, go to scientists and engineers in Russia. National security neither for Soviet Russia nor for the United States can rest entirely upon engineers and scientists unless these are more than mechanics. They have to be thinkers—im-

SYNOPSIS
Priscilla Paige's humdrum life as an office worker in New York suddenly becomes exciting when she is notified of an unexpected bequest from a great-aunt. As a result, her writer-friend Rita is driving with her to Annapolis, Florida, where Priscilla will claim a 100-year-old estate and $5,000 in securities.

CHAPTER 3

"IT'S SUCH a strange-looking country, so wild and desolate," Priscilla said, her eyes sweeping the wide expanse of water on one side with the intervening strip of marshland and sea grass, then turning to the other side of the highway, a jungle of palmettos, palms and mangroves. Rita was driving and Priscilla was taking notes. Rita might want them, she said, for a book sometime.

They were on the long, lonely stretch of road between Port St. Joe and Annapolis. There were miles without any sign of habitation.

Rita could tell that Priscilla was deeply interested in her surroundings. "It's certainly different," she commented.

"Not exactly desolate," Priscilla said. "I can't find the right word. I feel it inside, but I find myself at a loss to express it. It's lonely—maybe that describes it. You see so few people. And there's so much space. I didn't know Florida was like this."

"Florida isn't," Rita laughed. "Not the part of Florida one always thinks about. Miami Beach or the citrus groves and the lake region around Orlando. Remember I told you there wouldn't be any beaches in Annapolis."

"But isn't it on the water?" "Not on the Gulf. It's on Apalachicola Bay. The place is surrounded by water, but the Gulf is over beyond St. George's Island. There's a ferry service; we'll take the car and go over one day. There's talk of a channel through the island to the Gulf, and when that happens, they say Apalachicola will be back on the map in a big way. Don't worry about a beach, Priscilla. When you're through with this business, we're going on down the West Coast and across to Miami."

"Rita, I still can't believe this is real. I feel so relaxed. And I have the strangest feeling that I've seen all this before. It's like coming home or something—as if I belong to this country. Oh, look at those gorgeous palm trees!"

A few miles inward and they were along the water again with only an occasional battered palm etched against the sky, the water stretching away to the far horizon. More signs of life appeared, little settlements with weather-beaten shacks, numerous small craft tied up along the water front, and then they were on a boulevard, still Highway Ninety-eight, but the signs said "Avenue E" and they were inside the city limits. The fishing boats had given way to day-front homes, quiet and secluded, weathered and dignified, but unimpressive.

"I'm hungry," Priscilla said, her eyes darting. "Where is the town?"

"This is it," Rita pulled to the curb at the corner of Avenue E and Market, on the Market-Street side where several wooden steps led to sidewalk level. There was a seafood restaurant on the corner.

Priscilla laughed. "I've eaten so much fish in the past two days I'll soon be sprouting fins." She paused. "Rita, it looks so—so dried up. It's such a little town. Her voice had lost some of the enthusiasm of a few miles back. After hundreds of miles of driving, this small water-front town dreaming in the fall sunshine was not very inspiring.

"I told you that," Rita said. "And this is the restaurant where we ate, that time we drove through. I remember the food was good."

They decided on pompano, hot and appetizing with delicious hush-puppies. When they had finished, Rita said, "Now we'll look for a place to stay and find Mr. Todd's office."

A waitress hovering near said, "Are you looking for Mr. Sam Todd, the lawyer? His office is just down this street in the next block. You can see his name on the upstairs window." She was looking at them with friendly curiosity.

Rita thanked her, and as the waitress walked away, her glance came back to Priscilla. "What are you looking at?"

"That tall man there at the register who just bought cigarettes was staring at us so hard, particularly at you."

Rita, half turning to see the man, met his eyes as his glance came their way again. He looked first at her, then at Priscilla and back to her again. It wasn't a flirtatious glance, more a speculative look.

He was deeply tanned, his dark hair showing a little gray at the temples. He wore slacks and a yellow pull-over.

They watched the man pick up his change and go out the door. He got into a red Buick which was parked next to their Dodge. Neither remembered the red car being there when they stopped. He did not drive away, but sat there smoking.

"Well," Priscilla exclaimed. "He certainly gave us the once-over. I hope he leaves before we go out. Can you see the license plates on his car?"

Rita was nearer the window than Priscilla. "Looks like District of Columbia... I don't want him to see me staring. He's probably waiting for someone—" She broke off suddenly, then added, "I wonder why that rough-looking man is inspecting our car so closely?"

"And you didn't lock it," Priscilla reminded her.

"I know but it's in plain sight. Look, Priscilla, he's writing something down, and looking at our license number. Do you suppose we're violating something?"

The waitress heard the question. "You're not violating anything. That's Red Gallagher, a shrimp. Red seems to like to look over good-looking automobiles. I don't think he'll bother anything."

She went away, and Priscilla said in a low voice, "That man in the red Buick keeps glancing in here as if he's watching us, too. ... The shrimp fisherman's peeping inside our car now!"

Rita got up. "I'll pretend that I want to get something out of the car."

She went out unhurriedly while Priscilla watched. As Rita went down the steps leading to the street, the fisherman moved away. She opened the car door and picked up Priscilla's notebook from the seat. As she closed the door and looked up, the man in the red Buick dropped his eyes and began writing in a notebook. He did not look her way again; instead, he seemed interested in the fisherman, who was sauntering toward the wharf a block away.

When she got back to their table, Priscilla said excitedly, "That man watched every move you made! Then he started watching the dirty-looking man. Which is he interested in—us or the fisherman?"

"Probably neither. I suspect he's just waiting for someone. Anyway, he's driving away now. We should do likewise and look up Mr. Todd."

Psychiatrist May Help If Fatigue Persists

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEEL tired all the time, even when you haven't worked especially hard? Then perhaps you may need the services of a psychiatrist as well as a physician. Intensive psychotherapy frequently is called for in cases where the fatigue is out of proportion to the amount of physical and mental labor the patient has performed.

Emotional Basis

Such cases, which are not at all uncommon, generally have an emotional basis. Gynecologists and obstetricians report these symptoms are frequently encountered in their patients. Internists say as many as 50 per cent of their patients voice the complaint.

Many of these cases probably can be traced to childhood when a well-meaning mother strongly emphasized the need for rest.

Sources of Energy

Of course, rest and food, too, are important sources of energy. But no matter how much food or rest you get, it doesn't enable your body to store up a reservoir of energy.

Some persons unconsciously use this need-for-rest idea as an excuse for doing poor work or not achieving much.

If you are one of them, let's see why.

First, you may be satisfying your ego by appearing to be tired all the time. This fatigue might lead others to think that you are a hard worker.

Then again, it may be a way of avoiding responsibility or escaping more work, since less is expected of a tired person.

Sympathy of Others

Perhaps it is a way of gaining the sympathy and kindness of others or of achieving a passive, dependent position. Again, it may be an unconscious attempt to conceal or deny aggression, hostility or even sexual drives.

Monotonous work, boredom, lack of incentive—all these might also be contributing factors. But whatever the reason, see your physician first. And if he recommends that you consult a psychiatrist, do it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. W. M.: I am a diabetic and have been eating rolled oats for some time. Is the oatmeal too warming to the blood?

Answer: There is no such thing as a food being warming to the blood. However, if you are suffering from diabetes, foods rich in carbohydrates, such as oatmeal, should not be eaten in large amounts.

Your physician will plan your diet for you to control the diabetic condition.

He Was So Round, Unfirm

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—There are at least 26 million overweight Americans, and Leonard Louis Levinson has just written a book dedicated to them all.

His dedication reads: "To the thin person, inside every fat person, fighting to get out."

A reformed fatty himself, this repentant sinner is the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the diet field.

For most of his life Levinson, now 52, never counted his calories and preferred to take them rather than leave them alone.

He was a highly successful writer of film scripts, stage skits and radio shows. He wrote for Fibber McGee and Molly and many another entertainment headliner.

Then he was commissioned to write "The Brown Derby Cookbook," to celebrate the sophisticated cuisine of the Hollywood restaurant he patronized himself.

"In preparing that book," he recalled, "I tasted about 1,500 dishes they had in a card file as well as all those they had in the menu. For example, they had 23 different ways of preparing lamb kidneys and I tried them all.

"The recipes weren't for people worried about putting on weight. Most of them started off —'take a half pound of butter ... or a pint of rich cream and ...'"

Levinson who wore a great brown walrus mustache when he started the project, resembled a walrus in other ways when it was finished. He was round, unfirm and fully packed. He was also short of breath and uncomfortable.

His doctor told him he had to reduce at least 13 pounds.

"I thought it would be easy," said Levinson, "but it took me a full year. I had become too used to stuffing myself with rich food."

"But I like to throw myself into a thing, and I got really interested in nutrition and made a thorough study of it."

The result, after more than two years of experimentation with himself as the guinea pig, is a book on the other side of the dietary fence. It is called

"The Complete Book of Low Calorie Cooking."

Just how thorough was his research?

"Well," said Levinson, "I found 365 ways to prepare a breakfast egg—a different way for every day of the year."

The book abounds with tips on how ordinary diet cheaters, such as the midnight icebox raiders and the between-meals snackers, can gorge themselves on extra fodder that will fill their empty stomachs but won't put on weight.

"The single most important thing a dieter should learn is moderation—then he can eat almost anything," he said.

"But moderation is something many people just can't practice. So for them the answer must be to pick low-calorie foods to fill up on."

The days when he ate lamb kidneys prepared in 23 sauce-rich ways are past for Levinson, who fought successfully to get out of his old fat self. But he has no regrets.

"We are what we eat," he said, "and the more we

Presbyterian Group Holds Regular Meet In Church

Mrs. Tom Renick Conducts Business

The regular quarterly meeting of the Presbyterian Woman's Association was held in the social rooms of the church.

In the absence of Mr. John Eschelman, president, Mrs. Tom Renick presided. During the short business session it was announced that three layettes had been completed and mailed to Morris Fork, Ky., by the groups. It was also announced that bandages had been sent to the Presbyterian Board of Missions in New York.

At the completion of the business meeting Mrs. Renick introduced Mrs. Ed Grigg, who was in charge of the program for the evening. An Indian American theme was used to complete the course of study by the groups during the first half of the year.

Mrs. Grigg opened the program by reading the Indian version "The Lord's Prayer." She then introduced Miss Florence Dunton, who gave the devotionals, in keeping with the Indian theme.

"Hour of Decision" an Indian picture referring to the devotionals was presented.

Members of Group C served as hostesses for the refreshments, which they served from a tea table covered with a dark green cloth and centered with an Indian camp scene. The table had been decorated by the Evening Group.

An Indian breakfast cake was served as part of the refreshments. The recipe for this cake was brought by Mrs. Donald Mitchell from Canada, an Indian mission station in Southeastern Arizona, where the Mitchells have resided.

The next meeting of the Association will be held in September.

DOGS GUARD MACY STORE AGAINST NIGHT PROWLERS

Red Star comes out of his quarters for his nightly patrol.

By MEL HEIMER

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—In the upper reaches of Macy's, the world's largest department store (last year it did a reported $376 million business), are 11 of the cutest dogs you ever saw—shiny-coated, stalwart, bright-eyed Doberman pinschers.

They are not at Macy's to be cute. They are there to break your arm, if necessary.

For the past three and a half years the handsome, alert beasts, chaperoned by Frank Fay, the store's security director, have patrolled the store's two million square feet of floor space every night—and in that time Macy's hasn't lost a penny's worth of merchandise as a result of this activity. In the nine months before the dogs came, 15 prowlers hid within the store and took varying amounts of goods.

Trained at Canine college in West Redding, Conn., and estimated to have cost the store $1,000 each, counting the expense of schooling them, four of the dogs are charter members of the late patrol—Suzy, Cash, Red Star and Momm. The romance of Suzy and Red Star added seven to the team.

It's no new idea, of course, using dogs to track down prowlers. There always was the bloodhound posse in Uncle Tom's Cabin and the dogs trained by the Army during both world wars. However, Macy's is believed to have inaugurated their use in department stores and the store bosses haven't been sorry for one minute.

SIMILARLY-TRAINED animals, incidentally, are used by I.B.M. in its Poughkeepsie, N. Y., plant (Dalmatians are on watch there) and by songwriter Irving Berlin, who takes one along on his late-hour, lonely walks while he's thinking up tunes.

According to Fay, the dogs are taught to rout out prowlers, sniff out smoke, find escaping steam, track down running water that shouldn't be running and otherwise investigate after-hour irregularities in the 20-story building. "They're always on springs," Fay says.

They attack only when attacked themselves. They're trained just to corner a prowler and hold him there until store police arrive (the store has a security force that reportedly could

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Would you kindly discuss the general subject of late marriage—say, ages 54 and 64, respectively—in terms of good adjustment, worthy purposes and essentials for satisfactory partnership.

Most writings about marriage are directed, naturally enough, to youthful aspirants; and deal with the rearing of children and other concerns appropriate to the first half of life. But it seems to me that the last of life is why the first was made and, moreover, a time of quite different values—though equally important.

Attention seems to be concentrated on pediatrics (the nurture of children), while geriatrics (the science of aging gracefully) seems to be rather a neglected subject.

Is friendship a sufficient basis for late marriage?

D. C.

DEAR D. C.: Dr. Martin Gumpert, author of "The Anatomy of Happiness," has written extensively in the field of geriatrics—especially in an article entitled: "SQ"—A Yardstick For Old Age.

What does Dr. Gumpert mean by "SQ"? He is speaking, he says, of the "survival quotient," or the factors in individual experience that favor longevity. He says these factors can to some extent, be measured; and that they indicate how we may live long, and enjoy it!

Aperson's "SQ" is not identical with his state of health. That is, he may have a poor health history, and yet survive with amazing hardiness. Survival seems rather to be a matter of interest in life and adaptability. In testing one's survival qualities, Dr. Gumpert explores such questions as these: Is a person eager to continue his life? How does he manage himself? Has he attained a poor or competent measure of self-realization? Does he recognize a purpose for his life? Does he indulge in illusions? Or is he aware of his limitations and his capacities? Is he wasting his energies or using them wisely?

Other illuminating questions are: How does a person act under stress? Is his stress reaction panic, exhaustion and acceptance of defeat? Or is it increased attention, adaptation, reorientation? Is he addicted to self-pity? Does he like himself? Does he like people? Is he loved, or willing or wanting to love? How does a person face his future? Does he believe he has a future? Is he doing anything to prepare for it?

I don't think mere friendship, if by that you mean impersonal liking, is sufficient basis for the inescapable intimacies of a shared bed-and-board. I think that there isn't much difference, after all, between the requirements of youth and age, on the score of having love. In all probability Dr. Gumpert's book can give you a broad grasp of the general answers you seek.

agitative thinkers. On this subject our doctors write most learnedly and thoughtfully:

"...What no country has yet been able to accomplish is to insure that highly competent people rise to the top in every sector of life. There were many good scientists in Germany in 1933, but that did not prevent Hitler from coming into power.

To reduce all considerations of national security and welfare to concern over the number of scientists and engineers would be the rankest type of materialism. It would also be to withdraw behind an intellectual Maginot Line."

In the universities today it is fashionable to sacrifice wisdom for knowledge, thinking for know-how. It might, on the face of it, look very practical but as we are troubled in this generation over a conflict of ideas, we need most of all philosophers and of them, there is, indeed, a grave shortage. In a word, what is lacking most is clear, unafraid thinking.

Kochheisers Gain 3rd Win By Edging Out Aquinas 5-4

Local Lads Come From Four Runs Behind; Circleville Now Rules International Division

Circleville's entry in the Columbus Babe Ruth League, Kochheisers, now rule the International Division alone after beating Columbus Aquinas 5 to 4 at Ted Lewis Park Monday evening.

Kochheisers spotted Aquinas four runs in the second inning but came back to win and now boast a 3-0 record. Pitcher Don Rowland aided his own cause by getting two hits, the last one driving in the winning run in the bottom of the fifth.

The local lads, who had been tied in the standings with Aquinas prior to the game, practically handed the contest to the losers in the early stages. In the first two innings, Kochheisers committed six errors, four of which led to all of Aquinas' four runs.

Aquinas scored first, tallying four times in the top of the second on three hits and the four mis- cues. However, Rowland settled down after that and gave up only two singles the rest of the game.

CIRCLEVILLE got one of the runs back in the bottom of the second. Ted Wellington got the only extra base hit of the game, a double. He stole third and then scored on an infield out.

The score went to 4-2 in the third. With the bases loaded, Wellington drew a walk, forcing in Joe Adkins with Circleville's second run.

Kochheisers knotted the count at 4-all in the fourth. Rowland and Adkins got back-to-back singles and Cal Ellis drew a walk to again jam the base paths. Butch Edgington then drew a head on one of Helenthal's deliveries and smacked a single, driving in Rowland and Adkins.

The winning run came in the fifth frame, making four straight innings in which Circleville scored. Duane Dean singled and stole second. Rowland, the next batter, stepped up and lashed out a single, scoring Dean with what proved to be the winning tally.

In the top of the sixth, Aquinas threatened. But the local lads promptly rattled off a double play—shortstop Ellis to second baseman Terry Dean to first baseman Edgington.

THE GAME was halted after Aquinas had been retired because of darkness.

Kochheisers play this evening when they meet Grove City Furniture at the Jewish Center field in Columbus. Ellis will probably toe the rubber for the local lads.

The 27-year-old Martinez, winner of 21 straight, has stopped 25 of his opponents. Vince's record is 49-3.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife has extended to June 15 the deadline for sportsmen's clubs wishing to apply for additional pheasants under the recently announced 50-50 pheasant program.

Progressive sportsmen's organizations, desiring to carry on a worthwhile project, which will not only place more birds in the field for their own sport but will also aid the Wildlife Division's program, should look upon this program with favor and enthusiasm.

Under the new program, six-week old pheasants will be supplied to organizations meeting certain requirements. These pheasants are in addition to the Wildlife Division's general releases so cooperation by sportsmen's clubs will result in increased numbers of pheasants for local release.

Up to 300 birds per acre will be furnished to cooperating clubs who will agree to build the rearing pens and furnish the food and care for the birds until they are able to fly out and fend for themselves. By permitting these pheasants, which have been placed in the holding pens, to fly out when they are able and ready, it has been found that the survival and harvest have more than doubled. Birds usually begin flying out of the pens at about 8½ weeks, with some returning to use the pens for several weeks.

Clubs wishing to take part in this worthwhile project should contact their local game protector or write to: Pheasant Project, Ohio Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio. Deadline for applications is June 15.

Kids Baseball Games Called

All kids' baseball games for today have been cancelled due to the fact that all the lights at Ted Lewis Park have not been installed.

The Rotary — Kiwanis Little League game has been rescheduled for Friday at 8 p. m. The Purina — Eshelman's Mosquito League game and the Elk's — GE Little League contest will be played next week.

er than normally expected from the some 4,000 people seen fishing in boats at 10 a. m.

Largest walleye checked was a 7½ pounder caught by a 13 year old boy. While this is a good sized fish, it is not uncommon for a number of 10 to 12 pounders and over to be taken on opening day on this fine lake.

When questioned as to the lack of success in taking more walleyes, Armbruster said it was his opinion that fishermen might have been fishing too deeply. During the past few years on opening day the water temperature has been from 68 to 75 degrees, but this year the temperature was only 58 degrees and the fish might have been in the shallower waters. Most fish taken were caught in the north end of the lake, close to the causeway.

Armbruster said if the weatherman cooperates and the water temperature continues to rise the walleye fishing will improve. The season on walleyes, bass and muskies in Pymatuning is open through November 30.

Poirer, Ortega May Tangle Again

NEW YORK — Matchmaker Teddy Brenner today planned to rematch Mexico's Gaspar Ortega and Gene Poirer of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and well he might. They are both action-plus club-fighters and they staged a stirring 10-rounder here last night.

Ortega, the 6-5 favorite, was awarded a split decision in a tightly-fought contest.

Referee Ray Miller (5-3-2) and Judge Joe Eppy (6-4) each scored for Ortega. Judge Nick Gamboli had it even, giving each five rounds and five points.

Maurice McDermott should do all right now that he's with the Yankees. While with Boston and Washington he beat the Yankees only four times in 20 decisions.

Texas Eastern helps put backbone in a battleship

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU Philadelphia Gas Works, a Texas Eastern customer, supplies the gas used at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. A complete gun turret, stress-relieved in a gas-fired furnace, is pictured here being lowered into place on a U. S. cruiser.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest to help in the job of building fighting ships that can withstand the stresses and shock of battle action. At the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard huge gas-fired furnaces are used to stress-relieve castings, forgings and complete gun turret, bow and stern assemblies. The stress-relieving of these giant units gives added backbone and muscle to the structure and operating parts. Gas is used because the atmosphere and temperature can be exactly controlled... and because gas does the job economically. Today thousands of homes and industries depend upon this modern fuel, because Texas Eastern makes it available, abundantly.

Fire Chief Calls Attention To Dangers Of Dry-Hot Season

Grass, Brush Blazes Cause Needless Runs

Wise Notes Lagging
Rainfall May Hint
Extra-Warm June

Circleville Fire Chief Talmer Wise today called the attention of local property owners to the fact that the worst time of year for grass and brush fires is just about here.

He also noted, in this connection, that the district's rainfall accumulation is running more than one inch below the normal for this date in June. The points he underlined mean as much to the fire department as they do to the city, or farmland in the surrounding rural areas.

Grass and brush fires cause the firefighters to make many needless runs every Summer. Such fires are also frequently a threat to valuable property.

The problem is nationwide.

FIRES That started in dry grass or underbrush, a serious hazard in communities of all sizes, numbered nearly 285,000 in urban United States during 1954, latest year for which figures are available.

This figure is approximately one-third of all fires which occurred in this country during that year.

Like most fires, grass and brush fires are preventable. As proof of this, the 1954 total represents a 12 percent decrease from 1953. To

IT'S SIX OF ONE and half a dozen of the other at this record-breaking mass wedding in Blenheim, Ont., where four daughters and two sons of farmer Leo Dorser, 61, were married to six other Dutch immigrants. They are shown leaving St. Mary's Church to find most of the 2,800 townfolk waiting to greet them. The Dorssers are Cornelius, Andre, Dora, Christina, Wilhelmina and Grada. (International) reduce the figure still further, the National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends the following safety measures:

1. Keep grass cut short near your home and any outbuildings. If there are vacant lots in the neighborhood which are overgrown with grass, tall weeds or underbrush, ask the owner or someone in authority to have them cut down.

2. If you must burn trash, be very sure your fire cannot get out of hand. Burn on a calm day, use a metal basket with a cover, set it well away from any building or fence. Hook up your garden hose and keep it handy. Stay with your fire until it is out and the ashes are cool enough to touch with bare hands. Keep children away.

3. Never throw a lighted match or butt from a car window. Use the car ashtray. And whenever you throw away matches or smoking materials while you are out walking, hunting or picnicking, make sure they are dead out.

4. IF YOU own a field you intend to burn over, the best idea is to change your mind. Burning over a field destroys valuable humus on top of the soil, and the fire is very apt to get out of control. If you must do so, however, first plow a firebreak at least six feet wide around the field. Alert the fire department before you light the fire. Set it to burn against rather than with the wind, and avoid burning when the wind is high.

School Fund Rule Given By Official

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill has ruled that the 1955 tax duplicate must be used in determining allocation of public school funds for the last quarter of 1956.

R. M. Eymann, state school superintendent, requested the opinion. He said the 1954 tax duplicate formed the basis for distributions for the first three quarters of this year.

School districts must levy at least 10 mills on property to participate in the state school foundation program under which schools receive public funds.

While Oklahoma City Man Fiddles, Neighbors 'Burn'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—While Felix Czajkowski fiddled, his neighbors burned.

In fact, tempers got so hot, the Oklahoma City man was hauled into court on a disturbance charge. One neighbor testified she didn't believe Czajkowski knew one note from another and that he screeched on his violin "constantly." Another claimed he played the fiddle "from early afternoon and sometimes all night long and danced and jumped on the floor." Czajkowski told Police Judge Mike Foster: "I'm a country-style violinist. I've never had any instructions on the violin." Judge Foster fined the 42-year-old Czajkowski $7 for disturbing the peace.

Ohio 'Exile Order' Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Andrews (D-Ala.) has asked Attorney General Brownell to investigate an Ohio court order which sent a Negro mother and her eight dependents back to Livingston, Ala., last week. Andrews reported that Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland issued an "exile order" directing deputies to go to the home of Martha Winston "and put Martha Winston and the members of her family on a bus or train for Alabama, over the vigorous protest of Martha Winston." The woman and her husband separated five years ago and she went to Cleveland to live four years ago. A juvenile court official testified that the family was not eligible for relief in Ohio but was in Sumter County, Ala.
